Junta Defeated In Chile; Davila Again in Saddle

Purely Socialist State is Being Planned,
Chief Says
GROVE IS CAPTIVE
Red Extremist Regime
Beaten in Counter-
Revolt

Santiago, Chile.—(AP)—Carlos Davila, heading a new Chilean government for the second time in less than two weeks, informed the Associated Press today that he and his associates plan to create a purely socialist state and that if necessary they will attain their ends by force of their arms.

"This government," he said a few hours after he had withdrawn from the junta headed by Col. Marmaduke Grove, "will continue along the lines originally projected for a Socialist republic of Chile. Armed forces will support the fulfillment of our plans."

"A constitutional assembly will be called soon to write a constitution for the Socialist republic. Until then the government will confine its acts as nearly as possible within the present constitution."

While he talked, cavalrymen rode up and down through the streets outside the presidential palace which Senator Davila, former ambassador to the United States, took over early this morning after an exciting counter-revolution against the Grove regime. The troops were there to keep order, but as a matter of fact the city was generally quiet.

"We aim to create a purely Socialist state," said the new head of the government. "It will be a moderate Socialist state with no connection whatever either with the extreme left or the extreme right."

He said he and his associates would proceed immediately against the "extreme left" by which he meant Colonel Grove and those who served him.

The counter-revolutionaries comprised army and navy air force groups, apparently supporters of Senator Davila, who charged the junta had gone over to Communism.

Later today they turned the government over to a new junta composed of Senator Davila, Senator Alberto Cordero, member of former President Marmaduke Grove's cabinet, and former Deputy Nolasco Cardenas. The new junta was sworn to outlaw Communism, but to continue the Socialist republic established after the June 4 revolt along moderate lines, friendly to foreign interests.

Col. Grove had announced he would die before he would surrender to the army groups, who had besieged the palace with 18 field guns, but he finally was captured alive and taken to a regimental barracks, with Senator Matte, to await the new government's decision regarding their fate.

The revolt began last night when a group of army officers invaded the presidential palace seeking Colonel Grove. The search was unsuccessful for the colonel had hidden himself in an obscure room, and from there was sending happy appeals to his followers to come to his assistance.

Palace Besieged
In the meantime rebellious troops were marching on the city to besiege the palace. Machine guns began to rattle and great crowds of people many of them Communists, gathered in the streets.

Airplanes of the attacking forces flew over the city and the sky was lit up by bursting star shells and rocket flashes, while from the north the troops entered the city.

Forces loyal to Colonel Grove mounted machine guns on the palace and prepared to defend it, but as the counter-revolutionary hosts gathered in the streets, the rebels' artillery around the building and set up headquarters in the ministry of war building across the street, the loyal troops and carabiniers began a general desertion and Grove and Matte were left practically without defense.

The attackers gave them until 1:30 a. m. to come forth. In the meantime they issued a statement saying their only purpose was to restore constitutional government and that they intended to refrain from any part in politics, once

Chicago Holds Out Glad Hand To Democrats

Awaits New Convention as Republican Delegates
Evacuate City

SANDERS G. O. P. HEAD

Curtis Renomination and Prohibition Plank Center of Discussion

Chicago.—(AP)—The big Republican show is over, but the Democrats are moving in with an even more imposing array of political stage-trimmings, and the pause will be only temporary.

Having renominated Hoover and Curtis, chosen Everett Sanders of Indiana their campaign manager, and melted down the great variety of prohibition views into a plank promising submission of a plan for modification, the hosts of the G. O. P. evacuated their Chicago haunts during the night with no lost motion.

Today nearly all of the Michigan-ave hotels which housed them during the three convention days were back to the normal ways of life.

Within a week, the Democrats will be in Chicago, in the same hotels, preparing for the opening of their own convention, in the same overgrown stadium on the west side, on Monday, June 27. The vanguard was here before the Republicans were beyond the city limits.

Advance agents of a dozen presidential candidates will be getting headquarters space in shape over the present weekend, and then it will be a matter of steadily increasing activity until the gavel drops.

The Republicans left behind them the memory of at least two events which bid for places in political history. One, of course, was the sudden upward surge of sentiment for prohibition repeal, curbed only after a real convention battle.

The other was the final victory yesterday of Vice President Curtis in his candidacy for renomination.

Curtis Near Defeat
For a time, even toward the end, it appeared that Curtis was on the verge of defeat, despite the fact that every key man in the convention understood President Hoover wanted his running mate of 1928 kept on the ticket. There was wet

Raskob Named in Fox Stock Pool

Senate Committee Counsel
Says Democrat Took Part in Bear Trading

Washington.—(AP)—John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, was named in the senate stock market investigation today as a participant in a short selling pool in Fox Theaters stock in 1929 along with William Fox, head of the company, and half a dozen others.

The statement was made by William A. Gray, committee counsel, who said nearly $2,000,000 in profits were distributed among the participants. Gray also charged that Fox, in filing his New York state income tax returns, deducted as losses sums on which the loss actually had been suffered by his companies.

In this connection, Senator Couzens (R., Mich.) said he would move to have the committee obtain from the treasury department income tax data on all persons mentioned in today's testimony, including Fox and those described as having participated in pools.

Chairman Norbeck (R., S. D.) said he was informed the committee had "plenty of power" to procure such information.

Fox, although in Washington, was absent as the lengthy and complicated testimony was given. For the second time in two days his counsel appeared at the committee room, where the explanation that Fox was too ill to appear.

Not content, Gray sent a doctor to examine him and later told the committee the physician and Fox's own medical attendant reported there was no reason why he should not appear.

The movie man's counsel—Benjamin Reiss—denied this and bristled when he said was a doctor's certificate that Fox was too ill to leave his hotel room.

Hold Three as Suspects In Grand Larceny Case

Milwaukee.—(AP)—Joseph Sudar, Chicago, was held on a grand larceny charge today and two other Chicagoans were detained because Detective John Rydlewicz ran out of small change.

The detective was at Juneau, Wis., the other day returning a man on an abandonment charge. He stepped into a restaurant to get a bill changed for his fare. There he saw three persons he believed were wanted in connection with the swindling of Mrs. Mary Scherr of $2,600, her life savings, a few months ago. He arrested the trio and brought them here.

Yesterday Mrs. Scherr identified Sudar as one of the men who swindled her.

CAROL HONORS AMELIA
Bucharest, Rumania.—(AP)—King Carol today conferred the Order of Merit for Aviation of the Rumanian government on Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam, American woman trans-Atlantic flier.

Kaw Indian Woman Chief Pleased by Triumph of Curtis

Lawrence, Kas.—(AP)—Mrs. Lucy Tyiah Eads, woman chief of the Kaw Indian tribe for nine years, felt like trying out a war whoop of triumph today. The Republican re-nomination of Vice President Charles Curtis, through whose veins runs the blood of the Kaw, was the reason.

"All of us Kaws realize the honor," said Mrs. Eads. "He's my cousin, you know. A fine man and deserving of his high position. My boy is named after him."

She pointed to two-year-old Curtis Eads who mumbled his name at his mother's request.

"The Kaws will be having a big celebration down at their Washington, Okla. reservation," Mrs. Eads said. "I imagine it will be Sunday."

Admits Shooting His Kinsman to Death in Quarrel

Man Brings Body of
Brother-in-law to Doctor,
Confesses to Police

Dodgeville, Wis.—(AP)—Burleigh Dorin, 56, brought the body of his brother-in-law, Raleigh Shaw, 37, to Montfort in a car last night, entered the police station and confessed he had slain the man.

Shaw was shot to death. The shooting occurred on the farm of a brother-in-law, Gibb Bowes, two miles southwest of Cobb, Wis. Dorin told the police.

After shooting his brother-in-law, Dorin hoped the wound would not be fatal so he rushed the man to a doctor at Montfort. The physician pronounced Shaw dead.

Dorin then confessed he shot Joseph Greer of Grant-co. Dorin told Sheriff Greer that he shot in self-defense after Shaw struck him with a spade. He admitted that there was "some talk" about his relations with the dead man's wife but denied their relations were improper.

Inasmuch as the shooting occurred in Iowa-co, Sheriff David, Raisbeck and District Attorney C. H. James of that county took Dorin into custody and lodged him in the jail here. They were to question Mrs. Shaw and Bowes today. The latter two witnessed the argument between Dorin and Shaw and the shooting.

The slaying was committed with a .22 calibre revolver. The doctor who attended Shaw said the bullet entered through the left arm and pierced the lungs.

Sheriff Greer obtained a signed confession from Dorin, he said.

The sheriff also said Dorin had cuts about his head and his knuckles were badly lacerated, indicating that there had been a fist fight between the two men.

Dorin was scheduled to be arraigned today before Judge Aldo Jenks.

Claims New Record Hop Across United States

Santa Monica, Calif.—(AP)—A new record for a transcontinental flight between sunrise and sunset is claimed by Captain James B. Dickson.

Dickson made a 3-stop flight with three passengers yesterday, computed his flying time for the 2,400-mile trip from Newark to Santa Monica as 14 hours, 49 minutes. He said the elapsed time was two hours more. Stops for food and fuel were made at Indianapolis, Wichita, Kas., and Albuquerque.

On Feb. 26, 1931, Allen Van De Mark flew from east to west coast with three passengers in 15 hours, 45 minutes flying time, landing at Los Angeles, 16 miles east of here.

Gold Star Mothers are Honored by Veterans

LaCrosse.—(AP)—Sixteen Gold Star mothers will be guests of honor tonight at the annual banquet of the state encampment of Veterans of Foreign Wars and their auxiliary here. Senator Ben Gettelman, Milwaukee, Republican candidate for secretary of state, will be among speakers.

The encampment opened yesterday with memorial services. Election of officers and a parade will wind up the convention tomorrow.

Frank Nitti Sought for Gang Slaying in Chicago

Chicago.—(AP)—Frank Nitti, whose firing squad enforced harmony in the old Capone syndicate, was sought today for the machine gun assassination of George "Red" Barker, who aspired to succeed the imprisoned "Scarface" Al.

It was Nitti, police said, who originated the "second floor front" ambush with years ago erased Hy-mie Weiss, Joe Aiello and other enemies of Capone from the Chicago gang wars.

Barker's killers used the same system, sending 38 machine gun slugs from the second floor of a west side apartment building into Barker's body as he strolled toward the Norfolk hotel.

Nine hours after the erasure of the much-hated Barker, police found a machine gun and an automatic rifle in a vacant lot across an alley from the hotel. The word went out by radio and telegraph printers to "bring Nitti in."

Approve Delay For Payments Of War Debts

Agreement on Reparations
Effective Until End of Conference

SEEK SETTLEMENT

German Chancellor Hopes
For "Final Action"
On Great Problem

Washington.—(AP)—The United States has not been asked by the League of Nations conference to join with the European powers in their temporary extension of the Hoover moratorium until the conclusion of the parley.

The Hoover moratorium ends on June 30, but no large payments are due to the United States until Dec. 15.

Lausanne, Switzerland.—(AP)—Great Britain offered to wipe the slate clean of reparations and war debts at the international economic conference here today, but France insisted that elimination of trade barriers was more important than cancellation of the war payments.

Germany's spokesman, in a temperate address, made no reference to repudiation of reparations, but indicated it might be necessary to declare a moratorium on private debts, most of which are owed to Americans.

Neville Chamberlain, speaking for the MacDonald government, asserted that Great Britain is ready to waive her claim to $2,000,000,000 in war payments provided all the other governments concerned will do the same.

Lausanne, Switzerland.—(AP)—A "stopgap" agreement to suspend reparations payments from the end of the Hoover moratorium holiday, June 30 to the end of the present conference here was signed today by representatives of Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and Belgium.

The agreement also was submitted to other nations. It was specifically provided that it in no way prejudged any ultimate agreements to be made at the end of the conference.

The agreement was the result of a move by Great Britain and was generally considered an effort to force the conference to continue to sit until a permanent settlement is reached.

It sidetracked the proposal for a six months renewal of the Hoover

Tax on Electricity Due For One-third of June

Washington.—(AP)—The new tax on electric energy which becomes effective on June 21 and requires the consumer to pay 3 cents on the dollar will be prorated by electric companies under a ruling issued today by the Internal Revenue bureau.

Each consumer on his bill for June will be charged with the tax at a rate of one-third of the tax this month of collecting for the remainder of June will save the companies the expense of having to read all electric meters on June 21.

Sugar Prices Continue To Advance on Market

New York.—(AP)—Sugar prices continued their advance in the New York market today. Three refiners increased quotations to 4 cents a pound, an overnight rise of 20 points. Future also improved.

Dealers reported that large orders were being received. Estimates of total business recently placed ranged between 800,000 and 1,000,000 tons, the largest movement in several years.

Most Traveled Cow In State is Located In New London Area

Milwaukee.—(AP)—Deputy marshals returned from New London and Appleton today without prisoners—but with a story of the most traveled cow in Wisconsin. This morning a New London brother indicted in a liquor ring cleanup, the brothers, according to the officers, posed as cattle buyers and drove about with a cattle truck. It was equipped with a false bottom to hold contraband. In the truck there was always a cow, and always the same cow, officers said.

23 Killed as Blasts Wreck Oil Tanker in Harbor at Montreal

Senate Nearing
Vote on Payment
Of Bonus to Vets

Leaders Expect Upper House to Kill All Chances
Of Prompt Action

Washington.—(AP)—Hundreds of ragged—but orderly—war veterans looked down from packed galleries today while the senate neared a vote expected by leaders to kill all chances of immediate payment of the $2,400,000,000 soldiers' bonus.

Outside, several thousand former service men, who had trekked to Washington from all parts of the country, whined away the time pending a roll-call by listening to their leaders counsel against any disturbance.

Proponents of the legislation, for the most part, occupied the senate floor. Most of those opposed consisted of enough votes to kill the legislation, remained quietly in their seats.

One of the speakers, Blaine, (R., Wis.), said he was not new convert to the proposal to pay the bonus immediately.

There is no one who denies the obligation. The congress of the United States has determined that there was an obligation. I need not discuss the validity of that obligation.

"The only question before congress is whether we will pay now or wait until 1935."

Blaine contended that the $1,500,000,000 in debentures which congress authorized the reconstruction corporation to issue were of "identically the same character," as the obligations proposed in the bonus bill.

"There is only one difference," he said, "they were designed for the railroads and the banks and the house of Morgan, while under this bill they are designed for relief of human misery."

Decision in Boyd Firm Case is Due Next Week

Madison.—(AP)—A decision on the criminal liability of five directors of the defunct Joseph M. Boyd Co., Madison investment firm, is expected to be made by Superior Judge S. B. Schein next week. The judge today said he had made up his mind but that he will not release his decision for publication until an opinion is written.

The directors who have been charged with violating the securities laws and false advertising, are Joseph M. Boyd, Alfred Rogers, Dr. C. A. Harper, R. R. Kroft, and Ray H. Farness. Boyd is also charged in the embezzlement and the others with aiding and abetting in the embezzlement.

District Attorney Fred Russel laid the case before Judge Schein after a John Doe investigation. He has recommended that the directors be held for trial.

G. O. P. Liquor Plank Ridiculed by Shouse

Washington.—(AP)—The Republican plank on prohibition was described yesterday as "weasel-worded all through," by J. J. Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National Executive committee.

In a statement he said the pronouncement was "susceptible of any meaning that the driest dry or the wettest wet might desire to read into it."

Quoting extracts Shouse said they proved the document to be "as complete a straddle as the administration was able to devise in view of the fact that 472 delegates in the convention were for submission . . . of an outright repeal of the present federal authority over the liquor traffic."

Strive to Curb Spread Of Fires in Michigan

Newberry, Mich.—(AP)—Fire fighting forces under direction of conservation officials were on guard in the Michigan peninsula today against outbreaks of forest fires.

An alarming increase in the number of fires within the last few days was attributed by forest rangers to the unusual dryness and in some cases to the activities of incendiaries who seek employment as fire fighters.

All major fires, including one which burned over 350 acres at Sandown, 12 miles southwest of here were reported under control. Seventy-five men worked from Wednesday morning until late yesterday to halt the spread of the blaze.

227 Dry Law Violators Are Freed in Alabama

Montgomery, Ala.—(AP)—The state of Alabama has given one-year conditional vacations from prison to 227 liquor law violators. Gov. B. B. Miller yesterday granted test paroles to the liquor law violators with a promise of permanent freedom if they make good in citizenship during their temporary leaves.

Duce Sneers at America, Report

Mussolini Quoted as Predicting
"Long Series of Wars" for World

London.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini was quoted in an interview published by the Daily Express today as caustically criticizing the United States and democracy generally and predicting a long series of "political, economic and military wars" for the world.

"America has no policy," the correspondent quoted him as saying, "bitterly and with 'sardonic contempt.'"

This was in reply to a suggestion that the United States was "one of the life belts to which idealists are clinging for salvation in the world crisis."

He summed up his impression of America, the correspondent said, in two words—prohibition and Lindbergh. (Evidently referring to the kidnapping of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr.)

"Dry America will never find herself," he was reported as saying. "She must go wet to find herself. In the meantime Europe is drifting to disaster and revolution."

Smiling demurely, the correspondent said, Mussolini then turned his guns on democracy.

"Democracy is nothing," he said. "The people are nothing. In every country they are weary of talk. They need men of action. They cannot save themselves; they need saviors."

And he added: "There are no saviors."

For the future, he was quoted as saying, he foresaw a long series of wars. "There's war now," he added. The era of reparations is ended, he said, and added that "if Germany says 'No Italy also will say 'No.'"

Denied in Rome

Rome.—(AP)—The foreign office said today that it knew nothing about an article in the London Daily Express described as an interview with Premier Mussolini.

New England Woman is New Federation Chief

Seattle.—(AP)—A New England woman, a student of foreign affairs and a nationally known lecturer, is the new president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, an international organization with upwards of 2,600,000 members.

Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole of Brockton, Mass., whose 35 years of membership in women's clubs has seen her serve them in almost every capacity, was raised to the presidency at the election here yesterday. Mrs. Edward Hammett of Shobogan, Wis., was elected treasurer.

Mrs. Ben Hooper, Oshkosh, Wis., in an address yesterday, asked that the 5,000,000 members use their influence to defeat for the United States senate any candidate who declares against entrance to the world court.

"We have been working for entrance into the court since 1923," she said. "We have been sending resolutions, petitions, telegrams, and letters to the senate foreign relations committee and to individual senators."

Report Kaiser Wants To Return to Germany

Berlin.—(AP)—Kleines Journal, a society news weekly, spread across its front page today a story that former Kaiser Wilhelm wants to come back to Germany next autumn for the wedding of Prince Gustaf Adolf of Sweden, and Princess Sibylle of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, and thereafter to take up residence at Coburg.

Agents of the house of Hohenzollern denied the report, reiterating that they have said so often in the past that Wilhelm never wants to come back to Germany until the nation calls him.

63 Persons Injured in Vickers Drydock Tragedy

RECOVER 10 BODIES

Series of Explosions in Wake of First in Ship

Montreal, Que.—(AP)—A series of terrific explosions tore the oil tanker Cymbeline wide open in Montreal harbor today and brought death to an estimated total of 23 men, and injuries to 63.

Ten bodies had been recovered at noon, nine hours after the first blast, and 13 others were believed to be in the wrecked tanker's hold.

Fifteen of the injured were firemen called out to combat the flames that followed the first explosion.

Flaming oil shot 100 feet in the air when the first blast occurred as 100 workmen were rustling repairs on the Cymbeline in the great Vickers drydock. The dock, built in England and towed across the Atlantic to Montreal.

A number of minor explosions occurred and an hour later, while firemen were fighting the flames and searching for victims of the blasts, another detonation, more severe than any of the others, shook the damaged ship.

In this final blast Fire Chief Raoul Gauthier, former president of the Dominion Fire Chiefs' association and known throughout the dominion for his courage, was killed with three or four of his men.

The bodies recovered were those of Fire Chief Gauthier, Paul Henrichon, J. Debrienne, J. Hamelin, three of the firemen who perished with him; and James Wilson, John Riddell, William Corbett, Donald Gunn and William Atherton, all employees of the Vickers company.

Blast Awoke City
The critically hurt included seven firemen, eight employees of Canadian Vickers and four members of the vessel's crew of 33. In the first explosion, which occurred at 3:15 a. m., the Cymbeline's main fuel tanks burst into fragments with a roar that awoke much of the city and caused wild excitement along the waterfront.

Rescuers sped to the scene, and several of the crew were picked out of the water in rowboats. As the Cymbeline sank to the bottom of the drydock, with the flames still roaring in the portion of her which remained above water, firemen fought doggedly to prevent the fire from sweeping to the plant. Then a second blast, occurring at 4:45 a. m., added to the devastation aboard the craft.

Fireman Albert Brennan, Moise Dufour and Paul Enard were among those critically injured in this second blast. They were rushed, with the others hurt, into the Vickers plant where first aid was supplied before they were taken to hospitals. Many of the injured suffered severe burns.

The Cymbeline, owned by C. F. Bowring of Liverpool, England, left Port Arthur, Texas, in May loaded with gasoline and ran aground on Anticosti island in the gulf of St. Lawrence in a heavy fog about two months ago. After being released, she came to Montreal, discharged her cargo and went into drydock for repairs. Her captain is Robert C. Stonehouse.

Boatmen along the waterfront, dreading the danger of further blasts, rowed close to the vessel to pick up several men who had been critically burned and hurled into the water.

The drydock was heavily damaged by the explosion. A fire, a part of it, containing a small steamer, broke off and floated away.

A theory of the first explosion is that an accumulation of gas from the residue of the oil cargo was ignited by one of the red-hot rivets being inserted in the hull by workmen.

Immediately following the explosion firemen swarmed to the scene and boarded the ship, a number of them being trapped by the second explosion.

All windows in homes and buildings in about a mile radius from the dock were smashed by the force of the explosions.

Asks $15,000 From City for Paddling By Group of Girls

Topeka, Kas.—(AP)—A high school trunk in which a girl was alleged to have been paddled by a group of her schoolmates is the basis of a $15,000 damage suit against the city of Goodland.

The plaintiff, Miss Georgia Hill, 18, Moline, Ill., through her father, filed the action in federal court yesterday, citing the Kansas law which makes cities responsible for mob violence carried out within their corporate limits. In her petition, the girl alleged that last Dec. 11, she was severely beaten, injured and bruised by a group of Goodland high school girls who afterward tossed her from a motor car.

Miss Hill moved with her parents to Moline last winter.

G.O.P. Getting Set for Great Ballot Battle

Hoover Followers Triumph Easily at Republican Convention in Chicago

Chicago (AP)—The Republican party was grinding its battle-axe today for the great 1932 political war with the Democrats, having wound up its national convention with a complete victory for the administration forces of Herbert Hoover.

Wary of three days of sessions, the delegates brought their convention to a quick windup at 3:45 p. m. yesterday shortly after supporters of Vice President Charles Curtis, choice of President Hoover for re-nomination, had smothered the political storm which had threatened to engulf him.

Mr. Curtis won, as incipient booms for former Vice President Charles G. Dawes and others fell by the wayside in the waning minutes of the session.

Having nominated President Hoover with a tremendous sweep of 1,124 of the 1,154 votes of the convention, the delegates turned to the business of picking his running mate, and an air of expectancy hung over the huge flag-bedecked stadium.

National Committeeman R. B. Creager of Texas, prime mover in the recent boom for General Dawes, took the platform. The man he proposed, however, was not Dawes, but Representative Bertrand H. Snell of New York. Chairman Snell declined in a joking manner.

Ralph Williams of Oregon, vice-chairman of the national committee, hurried to the Illinois delegation from the platform to say it was time to move Dawes forward, despite his announcement he would not accept even if nominated.

Two Illinois delegates, Richard Prendergast and Alderman Oscar F. Nelson of Chicago, moved toward the platform, apparently to move and second the nomination of Dawes.

Dawes' Boom Ends
Chairman Snell hurriedly advised Postmaster General Walter F. Brown of the situation and Brown rushed to Nelson's side. He pointed out to the chairman that Dawes would not take the job. The Illinois withdrew and the boom collapsed.

Hardly had the thunderous roll of the stadium's mighty organ signaled a history-making session was at hand, when the Illinois delegation hit the Hoover-Curtis train at its hottest, met at the Congress hotel headquarters and elected Everett Sanders of Oklahoma chairman of the national committee.

It was a swift rise for the former secretary of Calvin Coolidge—from sergeant-at-arms of the convention to chairman of the platform campaign and it appeared the political strategy in the move was to swing the force of Coolidge faction solidly behind Hoover.

Not many minutes had elapsed to the time Sanders was elevated to the field marshal's baton from the moment he was called upon as sergeant-at-arms to eject former Senator Joseph France of Maryland from the speaker's platform when the lone opponent for the presidential nomination sought and was refused recognition. His plan was to place Coolidge in nomination and stampede the convention. Police helped escort him from the platform.

Fearful Curtis' Defeat
It was the vice presidential nomination, however, that precipitated the surging apprehensions in the breasts of all administration supporters. They feared injection of a magnetic name like that of Dawes into the rank and file of the delegates might cause a bolt that would defeat Curtis. But the administration machinery was too well greased.

The vice presidential fireworks, or what turned out to be a lack of them, started when New York's candidate, General James G. Harbord was presented by Charles Tuttle, former United States district attorney of New York.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Polly Gann, sister of Vice President Curtis, and her husband remained in a box beside the speaker's stand and scouts for the administration went about the floor with the word all was safe for Curtis.

Harford McNider, American minister to Canada, was placed in nomination by J. N. Darling, the cartoonist of Des Moines, Iowa.

J. Leonard Reardon of the Pennsylvania and Florida state man, and former Gov. A. T. Fuller of Massachusetts, were also presented and when the roll was called Vice President Curtis, whose name was previously offered by Charles F. Scott of Iowa, Kas., was just short of victory. But the Pennsylvania delegation switched its 15 votes from Gen. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania, to Curtis and the battle was all over.

The final official computation gave the vice president a total of 633 votes. McNider was second with 178. Harbord polled 161.

One of the last acts of the session was to receive from President Hoover a message of thanks in which he praised the Republican policies would conquer present economic conditions.

It was addressed to Permanent Chairman Bertrand Snell, Vice President Curtis likewise wired Mr. Snell his thanks and expressed confidence of victory for the G. O. P. when the battle of ballots is held in November.

Appoint Harry Henning

To Finish Census Work
Harry Henning, Appleton, has been appointed by the U. S. Bureau of Census to complete the field work in the census of manufactures in Outagamie, Brown and Waupaca cos. He will complete the solicitation of questionnaires from manufacturers who have not already sent them to the Bureau of Census in Washington, D. C.

FROM INDIAN BOY TO VICE PRESIDENT

Vice President Charles Curtis is shown above with some of the colorful chapters from his life. He spent his early childhood with his mother's relatives on an Indian reservation in Kansas, became a jockey, studied law while driving a hack in Topeka, went to the Senate when he became the Republican leader and then was elected to the nation's second highest office.

Like President Hoover, Vice President Charles Curtis began life as an orphan boy and worked his own way upward. In addition, he is said to be the only man with Indian blood in his veins ever to hold that high office.

Here is Curtis' life history in brief:

1890—Born on a farm near North Topeka, Kan., the son of Captain Orren A. Curtis, a Kansas pioneer who married a girl of Indian descent.

1895—Orphaned, he went to live with his mother's Indian relatives on the Kaw reservation in Morrisco, Kansas, where he lived in a tepee, attended an Indian mission school and learned to ride a horse.

1898—Went to Topeka to live with his father's people.

1899—Attended school, working in livery stable in spare time.

1899—Became a jockey on Kansas race tracks.

1899—Quit riding and returned to school, meanwhile supporting himself by selling peanuts and candy around railroad station in Topeka.

1899—Admitted to the bar in Kansas after studying law while a hack driver in Topeka, and later studying in an attorney's office.

1899—Became prosecutor of Shawnee-co and attracted much attention by rigid enforcement of state's prohibition law.

1899—Married Annie M. Beard, now dead.

1899—Elected to Congress on Republican ticket.

1899—Left Congress to run for senate, and was defeated.

1900—Elected to Senate.

1902—Defeated for reelection.

1904—Returned to Senate.

1904—Became Republican leader of Senate.

1908—Elected vice president on ticket with Hoover.

1932—Candidate for reelection.

Writer Says Fox Valley Is Real America at Work

Appleton, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Neenah and other cities in the Fox River valley represent "the real America at work," a demonstration that the basic fiber of the country is best revealed in the economic slump," according to Merle Thorpe, editor and publisher of Nation's Business magazine.

Mr. Thorpe commented on the business activity and conditions in the Fox river valley section in his magazine following a recent trip through this section of the country.

He writes that although it possibly is true that the pattern of prosperity is made by big money makers and big money spenders it is just as demonstrable that the real strength of the country comes forth during a depression such as this.

This is what he said after his trip through the valley:

Points to Laymen

"If I were to write a prescription for a man flat on his back with pessimism, I would write very quickly for him to take a trip to any section of the country—skip the big centers, go to the small cities and the town and observe the laymen at work."

"I recently made such a trip. I went up the Fox river valley district of Wisconsin, extending from Fond du Lac to Green Bay, where there is a concentration of population and industries within a restricted area, possibly 300,000 in the five counties."

In this district nearly 200,000 cows are producing their billion pounds of milk a year, providing raw materials for 250 cheese factories, 40 creameries, 10 condenseries, and 400 receiving stations.

In Oshkosh, Green Bay, Fond du Lac and Appleton there are in the neighborhood of 200 industries, plants providing normal employment for 1,000 employees, paying wages of 17 millions of dollars, manufacturing products valued at 90 millions of dollars.

"At Neenah-Menasha, the Twin Cities of the district, there are 15 major plants which in normal times have a rail tonnage of about 300,000 per year."

"At Green Bay they make such things as power shovels, cranes, derricks, drag lines, paper mill machinery, furniture, canned meats and vegetables and paper."

"In Fond du Lac are to be found a leather company and three manufacturing plants of refrigerators, in addition to five lumber manufacturing and other making typewriters, high class iron furniture, candy, caskets, steel and condensed milk."

Products go out of Fond du Lac each year to the amount of 400,000 tons.

"At Oshkosh I found men making sashes and doors and metal and textile commodities."

Men's Minds Busy
"Such a section represents the real America at work. By this I do not mean that more men are employed, more goods are being turned out, than in the banner year of 1929. I mean that men's minds are employed, that the leaders of these industries, many of which are not listed on the stock exchange, are calmly planning for their particular interest applying to the individual units of our national economy what so many have advocated should be applied from the top down."

The Fox river district is typical of a thousand sections of our American and industrial life. As in these sturdy cities of Wisconsin there are thousands of leaders who have not lost their courage nor their faith. They give ear to a discussion of our economic machinery, but they do not advocate scrapping the entire apparatus, simply because of a temporary breakdown."

City Spent $4,500 On Poor in Month

Decrease of Almost $1,400 Under April Noted by Commissioner

Public relief department expenditures dropped from $5,900 in April to $4,537 in May, the monthly report of Joseph E. Schweitzer, commissioner of public relief, shows. The decrease was largely due to a reduction in the amount expended for fuel, although there were small reductions in a number of other items. Fuel, which cost $1,150 in April, amounted to only $440 in May.

Emergency rents totaled $1,259, groceries $1,009, and medical and dental bills $639, board, $324, meats $224, milk, $269, shoe repairs $18, and oil, kerosene and gas, $40. Plowing and tractor expenses were $14.

Families given outside aid during the month numbered 324, and 19 persons were cared for at the city home.

Mr. Schweitzer gave out 247 boxes of free government seed, 5,000 cabbage plants, and 800 tomato plants.

THE PROHIBITION PLAN

Under cover of a smokescreen of dry slogans the Republican party has abandoned national prohibition.

So effective was the smokescreen that it may take some time before the drys realize how complete was their defeat and the wets how imposing was their victory.

In the convention hall itself the galleries which were full of wets booed and howled while the wet cause was winning and the drys on the floor applauded ferociously the decision which marked the end of the Republican party's adherence to national prohibition.

What is it that the Republicans have declared? They have declared that the Senate should vote for a resolution submitting a Twentieth Amendment to the states. They have pledged themselves to specify that the ratification of this new amendment shall be considered not by state legislature but by specially elected state conventions "adequately state-guarded so as to be truly representative."

This is the point of view, that they pledge themselves to see that these state conventions are more truly representative than are most of the state legislatures. In other words they declare that the overrepresentation of rural districts and the underrepresentation of cities which is characteristic of most legislatures shall not prevail in the state conventions.

The practical difficulties of amending prohibition are incalculably important victory for the wets.

The Twentieth Amendment would take prohibition completely out of the Constitution. Whatever the phrase makers may choose to call it, this is repeal, and it constitutes an absolute victory on the fundamental principle by which the proponents of the Eighteenth Amendment have always contended.

The Twentieth Amendment would not only repeal constitutional prohibition but it would deny to Congress the power to impose legislative prohibition. For the Republicans have committed themselves to the principle that the states may legalize liquor, not merely bear and wine, but all liquor, if they wish to do so.

The Twentieth Amendment would however grant certain powers over the liquor traffic to the Federal Government. These powers would be of two kinds. There would be a grant of power to Congress to make laws and to set up enforcement machinery to protect dry states against the invasion of liquor from the wet states. There is no dispute as to the desirability of giving Congress this power. The only difference of opinion is whether to amend the Constitution in order to provide the power.

Some thing that the old Constitution vests in Congress all the authority needed; some deny that it does. There can be no possible objection to re-affirming the power if it exists or of granting it if it does not.

It is one thing to fight resolutely to win and another to refuse to make peace with your opponent. It is true that the wets have only won one battle, in a campaign which must be fought out in Congress and in the states. But they are in the ascendant, and they will make a great mistake if they take a stand which offers the drys no choice but to resist to the bitter end or to surrender adjacently. My view is that on the moot point of this platform, whether or not to grant Congress power to determine the principles upon which the states may legalize liquor, there is no sacrifice of principle in a conciliatory attitude. There is nothing in the proposal to grant Congress a limited power to regulate the liquor traffic which any self-respecting opponent of the Eighteenth Amendment and of the policy of prohibition need hesitate to consider with an open mind.

Everett Sanders Named Chairman Of Party Group

Elected Head of G. O. P. National Committee After Convention Ends

Chicago (AP)—It's just as well perhaps that sergeants-at-arms of political conventions do not have to work overtime.

As it was the 20th Republican adjourned sine die just in time for Everett Sanders, the sergeant-at-arms, to rush downtown to be elected chairman of the national committee.

From sergeant-at-arms of the national convention to chairman of the national committee and manager of his party's campaign is no mean promotion. Mr. Sanders locked up the current meeting place and swapped the key for a gavel with which to open the next one four years hence. His new office carries with it the privilege of calling the whores and permanence chairmen are exercising their political corals.

His record as sergeant-at-arms had nothing to do with the choice for promotion but he did have one bit of sergeant at arm to do in the closing session of the convention and almost had a much more formidable one a few hours earlier.

Former Senator France was yesterday ruled ineligible to enter the lineup of nominating speakers, the sergeant-at-arms was ordered to show the Marylander how to walk or run to the nearest exit. Mr. Sanders delegated the task of getting Dr. France out of the game to a portion of the Chicago constabulary but he was in command. Too, he remained at the platform entrance after that to see that only speakers whose names had been given to the umpire in advance could place themselves before the microphone.

Sanders Was Lucky

For the peace of mind of the new chairman of the national committee it may be just as well that he did not have to obey a previous tentative order.

When the galleries booed James R. Gaudin's speech in defense of the platform plank dealing with the eighteenth amendment, Chairman Snell used the name of the sergeant-at-arms at a threat.

The chairman told the cash customers, if the demonstration continued the sergeant-at-arms would clear them out.

As the upper tiers at the time contained some 15,000 persons this seemed one of the largest of large orders.

There were more than 2,000 assistant sergeants-at-arms on the premises but it is violating no confidence to say they would have been of little, if any, assistance to their chief in the emergency. Most of them came only for the buggy ride and wished no part of the honor or of clearing even one gallery, much less three.

One assistant unplanned his impressive badge as soon as Chairman Snell mentioned the possibility of clearing up the outlying districts, placed it in his pocket and went away from there. Another gave his badge to a friend and there was on the whole a noticeable lack of enthusiasm among the other assistants.

It is fortunate for Mr. Sanders that he did not have to clear the galleries single handed or in company with his subordinates who didn't resign as the order was given. If he had, he never would have been elected chairman of the national committee.

Lust for Gold Brought Slump, Keller Claims

People Must Stop Sinning and Return to God, Optimists Told

The world finds itself in the midst of a depression because people threw God into the discard and became too satisfied with themselves and their materialistic ideals, Gustav Keller, Sr., told the Optimist club at weekly luncheon Thursday noon at Conway hotel.

He likened present economic conditions to the period in which people tried to erect the tower of Babel, and compared the lack of leadership and initiative to the dumbness that struck the builders of Babel.

"We don't know what to do or where to go," he said. "What has become of our great intelligence and leadership?"

"Possibly war is the cause," but the war was over ten years before we started to become greedy, before the lust for gold became so strong, before the dollar was placed above man. And now I believe that Divine Providence has told us to stop, to take an analysis of ourselves and to pause in retrospection.

"We have been traveling the wrong road of life. It has been everybody for himself and the devil take the hindmost. Our country was founded on the principles of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness for all, but we have failed, have sinned against God, against man and against our constitution. What we now need is faith in Almighty God we must return to him and to the lofty principles of the brotherhood of man."

Neglected Duties

"We have deserted in large part the constitution of the United States, violated its spirit and neglected the duties of citizenship. We will not be true to man or faithful to our country unless we have faith in God and a sense of responsibility toward him."

The speaker referred to the political convention which closed yesterday in Chicago and the one to be held, as storms clarifying the air and ask the Optimists as citizens to study the platforms, the action of the convention and the men, stating that it was their duty to inform themselves, and use their influence to help lead the country through the medium of the ballot.

Mr. Keller listed some of the great problems facing the world, mentioning that wars are caused by commercial greed of nations. He suggested adjustment of production to probable consumption, and fair competition in business with due profits and good wages.

"The stock exchange crash," he said, "the tragedy of 1929," was repeated by the speaker, who said: "How can we stabilize values with the byenas of Wall-st in operation?" He said that it must not happen again.

Bank failures were touched upon by the speaker when he commented hoarding and asked a guarantee of deposits just as we have guarantee of return from fire, life and various other forms of insurance. He mentioned the Steagel bill now before congress, and recounted the fight that went on for years before the federal reserve bill was passed.

Urges Fair Taxation

Balancing the budget through a fair system of taxation based on ability to pay but not by "soaking the rich" and the prohibition question also was discussed. He stated that repeal of the prohibition law would bring to the treasury the enormous amounts of money that now go into the pockets of gangsters and bootleggers, and would save the country large amounts in attempting to enforce a law that never can be enforced.

He also stated that the prohibition law has resulted in breaking down the public morale, disrespect for law and debauching of public servants. He claimed it has resulted in crimes, immorality, hypocrisy and perjury.

"Optimists, those who look upon the bright side of life, should study the problems before us," he said, "and give the benefit of thought and study to others. Read both sides of questions in the present political campaigns, do your own thinking."

Committee to Plan Uniform Relief System

Report Will Be Submitted At Next Meeting of Municipalities Group

A uniform system of aid distribution for municipalities in the Fox River valley will be recommended to the Fox River Municipalities association at its next meeting by the administrators, of public relief in the valley cities, who spent all day Thursday at city hall here discussing methods of regulating the distribution of aid. The association, which will invite representatives from neighboring cities to its meeting, will discuss the report of the Thursday meeting, and set up a system which will be used generally throughout the valley.

A committee, including Joseph E. Schweitzer, local commissioner of relief; Mrs. Effie Bishop, Neenah poor commissioner; C. D. Rejal, director of the Neenah Mayor's Committee on Relief; S. S. Miller, executive secretary of the city welfare at Fond du Lac; and F. J. Janda, Oshkosh poor commissioner, was appointed to work out a uniform system of food rations. This committee will take into consideration the sizes of families and differences in ages, and set up a schedule that can be used by all cities. The schedule will be based somewhat on the systems now in use in Milwaukee, Neenah and Oshkosh.

Opposed to Cash. The group advises that all fuel, food and other necessities be purchased through local dealers, that no cash for relief be paid to indigents except when they are employed by the municipality, that all necessary clothing and shoes be supplied, and that all requisitions for food be made by personal application. The use of automobiles by indigents will be prohibited, municipalities will pay no telephone bills and permit the use of telephones only when a business in the home demands it. A maximum limit on the amount of cash to be granted to be permitted each family will be set, and municipalities will pay for no current used for radios.

Although a representative of the Outagamie County Medical society submitted a plan proposed by that group for financing the care of sick and injured indigents no action was taken in the matter of doctor and hospital bills. One of the particularly enlightening developments of the meeting was a description of the Fond du Lac method of caring for transients. That city rented a building, equipped it with beds and showers, and then issued a strict prohibition of house-to-house begging. Transients of Fond du Lac were free from the constant demands of transients, and the monthly cost to the city was kept down to between $100 and $110. It was discovered that transients were unwilling to linger long in a town where no money could be obtained, and where they had to accept hospitality in a community building.

Rohan in Race for Seat in Assembly

Kaukauna Man to Seek Post as Democrat—Is Third Candidate

William Rohan, Kaukauna, today announced his candidacy for the assembly from the second Outagamie district. Rohan will seek the democratic nomination at the primary election in September. He secured his nomination papers this morning from John D. Hantschel, county clerk. Rohan is the first Democrat to declare himself a candidate for a county office, although there already are 19 Republican candidates in the field. With Rohan's entrance into the field in the second assembly district there now are three men seeking that post. William Bay, Kaukauna, Republican incumbent, is seeking reelection. He will be opposed at the primaries by R. C. Schultz, chairman of the town of Cicero and a member of the county board. Rohan, a former member of the county board, is the father of John Rohan, Democratic assemblyman from this district in 1929 and 1930. Rohan was defeated in a close race with Bay two years ago.

Rock Garden Set Up in Store's Display Window

A rock garden beautifully decorated with several species of flowers and aquatic plants, growing around the edges of a large pool, has been set up by Herman A. Holtz in the east display window of the Wichmann Furniture Co. store on W. College-ave. In the center of the garden is a large pool containing gold fish and several turtles. Two highly colored imitation herons stand in the center of the pool. A flagstone walk, set off with large slabs of limestone, approaches the pool on the west side. On both sides of the walk rustic wood furniture has been set up. Evergreens serve as a background for the entire pool, and the southside of the walk. In addition to the rock garden, a collection of several varieties of rocks and stones from various parts of the country are on display. Part of the display has been furnished by Dr. Rufus M. Bagg, geologist-instructor at Lawrence college. The display includes a fossilized cuttlefish, sunflower coral, shell limestone, and chain coral.

Dr. France Seeks Floor of Convention but Gets Gate

Chicago—(AP)—Dr. Joseph L. France, the Marylander who never cared for Mr. Hoover's presidential campaign, will go down in the books as the candidate who sought the floor and got the gate. Among all the Republicans in the land, Dr. France was the single out-and-out, up-and-at-'em candidate for nomination for president at the final session of the national convention yesterday, and of all the Republicans in the land, it was he who was hustled from the platform by the police. In his case, "G. O. P." was interpreted to mean "get out, pronto." Dr. France, a former United States senator, sought the nomination through the support of delegations from states in which he was a candidate at presidential preference primaries. He made it clear that his campaign was not to satisfy a personal ambition. He sought delegate strength, he said, to be used for some other candidate—not Mr. Hoover. Somehow this single-motored drive for a presidential nomination never succeeded in stirring much enthusiasm. His own state of Maryland afforded him no solace. Other states were equally apathetic. Mr. Hoover, staying at home and saying nothing, got 1,124 votes. Dr. France came out here to try to make a speech, was escorted from the platform by the gendarmes—and got four votes. A man from Oregon named Sandblast put Dr. France's name in nomination. No one seemed to care very much. Dr. France stepped to the platform. The chairman told him he could not have the floor; that he was not a delegate. "I am a delegate," France retorted. "Here are my credentials from Oregon."

U. W. Alumni Are Back for Reunion

Dozen Members of Class of 1882 Returns for Golden Jubilee

Madison—(AP)—The vanguard of University of Wisconsin alumni arrived here today for the annual class reunions, commencement exercises and traditional ceremonies which mark commencement week-end. About a dozen members of the class of 1882 were on hand to celebrate the golden jubilee of that class. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Emmet A. Drake of El Paso, Texas, who were sweethearts in college days and who married 40 years after their graduation. Mr. Drake, chairman of the English department of the University of Texas College of Mines, was born in Monticello, Wis. Here are some of his impressions of the university he left a half century ago: "The students seem to be younger than most of us were 50 years ago. Most of the men students in the class of 1882 were from 25 to 28 years old—and I believe we felt our dignity more than these youngsters do today. "And then, too, I think we studied more than the students do now. In those days many of us were self-dependent, but nowadays the students are 'sen' to college, and do not seem to feel the necessity of study." Several classes will hold reunions over the weekend. Graduation exercises will be held Monday. At least five persons will be granted honorary degrees. Grace Abbott of Washington, D. C. head of the children's bureau, and Daniel W. Mead, Madison, craftsman in the field of hydraulic engineering, will be awarded doctor of laws degrees. A doctor of letters degree will be bestowed upon Sir William A. Creighton, Chicago, philologist and linguist, while Walter C. Mendenhall of Washington, D. C., director of the United States Geological survey will be given a doctor of science degree. Prof. R. A. Moore of the university, will be the recipient of a master of arts degree.

Drunken Driver Fined $100, Costs

If Apple Creek Man Does Not Pay Fine He Must Spend 90 Days in Jail

Martin Alberts, Apple Creek, was fined $100 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court yesterday afternoon for drunken driving. If he does not pay the fine he will spend 90 days in the county jail. In addition the judge ordered that Alberts' driver's license be revoked for six months. Alberts was arrested last Saturday at Freedom by Ed Vandenberg, town constable, after neighbors had notified authorities a man was driving in an erratic manner. Alberts pleaded not guilty, but he was found guilty by Judge Berg Monday afternoon. He was sentenced yesterday. It was brought out in court that Alberts has been convicted three times in the six years on other charges. In 1926 he paid a fine of $100 and costs for violation of the state prohibition laws. In 1928 he served 60 days in the county jail for a similar violation. He also has served 30 days, the records show, for passing a worthless check. For this reason the court imposed a higher fine than is usually given in these cases. Ordinarily drunken drivers are fined $50 and costs.

Rain Predicted for Tonight, Saturday

Although his predictions yesterday failed to materialize, the weatherman insists that thunderstorms will prevail in Appleton and vicinity. He said they will arrive here tonight and continue Saturday. Fair weather will prevail near Lake Michigan tonight, and the mercury is due for a drop in the west and central portions of the state. Winds are shifting in the east and southeast, usually a good indication that wet weather is on its way. At 3 o'clock Friday morning the mercury registered 64 degrees above zero, and at noon it registered 85 degrees above. BACK FROM MEET. C. C. Nelson, Appleton, delegate to the Republican National convention from the Eighth district, returned last night from Chicago. Mr. Nelson, a candidate for congress from this district, served as secretary of the Wisconsin delegation at the convention. Fancy Large Watermelons, every one guaranteed. Special for Sat. 49c. Pure Cane Sugar, $4.15 sack — SCHAEFFERS.

De Valera Sticks Former Position, Thomas Declares

Hasn't Deviated 'One iota' From Stand, Minister Tells Commons

London—(AP)—J. H. Thomas, secretary for dominions, told the house of commons today President De Valera had not deviated "one iota" from his original position on the abolition of the Irish oath of allegiance and the land annuity payments. Mr. Thomas read a dispatch from De Valera received this morning, during a debate on the Irish question in the commons. This, he said, left the position of the Anglo-Irish difficulties worse than it was before. The Irish note, said Mr. Thomas, stated that the Free State accepts the principle of arbitration in regard to the land annuities, and agrees that a tribunal of general character would be suitable as a court of arbitration, but cannot agree to restriction of the personnel to citizens of the British commonwealth. Other annual payments by the free state to Great Britain also must be included in any arbitration, the note said. Reviewing the recent negotiations, Mr. Thomas recalled that when Great Britain contended that the Irish oath of allegiance could not be abolished except by mutual agreement, President De Valera insisted that this was purely an Irish question. When Great Britain suggested that differences over the land annuities might be advised by an empire tribunal, Mr. De Valera replied: "No, the dice would always be loaded against Ireland."

President Poses For Picture Men

Curtis With Him and Members of Cabinet on White House Lawn

Washington—(AP)—A meeting with the cabinet, receipts of congratulations, and posing for the cameras were the order of the day for President Hoover and his running mate Vice President Curtis. It was a depleted cabinet the president faced but there was no falling off in the ranks of the cameramen who blithely ordered the chief executive and Mr. Curtis around the south lawn of the White House grounds. Returning from the Chicago battlegrounds where he was one of the administration commanders, Secretary Mills called immediately on his chief. Mills conferred only a few minutes before the picture taking started. As he came from the chief executive's office he ran into a cabinet group and a shower of congratulations from his colleagues. He met Secretaries Lamont and Wilbur and Attorney General Mitchell as he emerged. "Congratulations on the fine job, Mr. Secretary," Lamont said. "It was just about a 99.9 per cent perfect job," added Wilbur, who took part in the convention also, but not as a delegate. The president met smiling Vice President Curtis with a hearty handshake in the hall outside his private office. Chatting volubly but in low tones, they walked side by side to the south lawn of the White House where they faced a veritable barrage of clicking cameras.

Youth Drowns in Little Wolf River

Body of Roy Campbell, 18, Recovered About an Hour Later

Seized with cramps while swimming in the Little Wolf river at Adams Park, Symco, about four miles north of Manawa, Roy Campbell, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell, town of Bear Creek, Waupaca, was drowned about 1:30 this afternoon. The body was recovered about an hour later by John Eastling and Thomas Lindow, two Manawa boys who just graduated from high school this spring. Young Campbell had gone to the park with his brother and a group of other boys early this afternoon. Despite the fact that several other swimmers were near Campbell, the deep water prevented them from recovering the body sooner.

Mrs. Reid Visits Her Sister Here

Wife of New York Editor Spends Day With Mrs. Rush Winslow

Mrs. Ogden Reid, New York City, vice president of the New York Herald-Tribune and wife of the editor and president, Tuesday visited her sister, Mrs. Rush Winslow, 220 S. Morrison-st. She returned to Chicago the same day to join her husband at the Republican national convention. Mrs. Reid, the former Miss Helen Rogers of Appleton, is widely known for her executive brilliance. She holds the unique position of vice-president of the large New York newspaper. She is known for her work as treasurer of the New York State Woman's Suffrage party during the time the state was working for woman's suffrage and took an active part in the "Get Behind Hoover Movement" during the war. Mrs. Reid became the secretary of Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, mother of her husband, when she finished her college career at Barnard college and Columbia university in New York City. She worked in that capacity for eight years, accompanying the Reid family abroad, living at the American Embassy in London while Whitelaw Reid was Ambassador at the Court of St. James. Her marriage to Ogden Reid took place in 1911. She became vice president of the New York Herald-Tribune, Inc., after her marriage. Mrs. Reid is a hearty enthusiast for women in business. She believes that there is a great waste of women's brain power and also declares that housekeeping, as the "most difficult job in the world" is a splendid training for women executives.

The board assessed benefits and damages for the sewers on Erb and Richmond-sts.

Group Needed to Study Government, Kelley Contends

That's Purpose of Wisconsin Taxpayers' Alliance, Says Director

What the business man, the honest and competent legislator, executive and citizen needs, is an independent organization, including on its staff trained investigators and analysts to obtain, collate and report fairly and completely the essential facts of government, according to Edward L. Kelley, Madison, executive director of the Wisconsin Taxpayers' Alliance, who will address a mass meeting of Outagamie-co taxpayers at Lawrence Memorial chapel next Wednesday night. Mr. Kelley, a former Republican leader at Manitowish, was the former chairman of the Wisconsin Tax commission under Gov. Walter J. Kohler. As present executive director of the Wisconsin Taxpayers' alliance he is a leader in the organized movement to create state-wide responsible non-partisan agency to keep citizens cognizant of all governmental problems and progress. The local committee in charge of the arrangements of the mass meeting met this morning under the chairmanship of F. J. Harwood. The other committee members include B. J. Zuehlke, Seymour Gmeiner, William C. Wing, H. L. Davis and M. A. Worthemer. To Tackle Problems. The taxpayers' alliance was organized in the state in an effort to cope with governmental problems existing in Wisconsin. It is believed that the cost of government had advanced far over the economic development of the state, that modern state, county, city and school problems have become too complex for the individual citizen to understand really, that the pressure of private business prevents a citizen from giving sufficient time to study the many contemplated technical public questions. In purpose the group will encourage the interest of all citizens in efficient and economical government, which is impossible without widespread citizen interest, it is believed. The organization will study actual and proposed public expenditures through the detailed work of experienced analysts and research workers so that expense which the taxpayer cannot afford to be checked; a just and scientific system of taxation is sponsored in order to bring about reasonable assessments with the lightest possible burden in keeping with good government. The alliance also undertakes to propose measures and administrative changes to improve the organization of the state and local government, and especially, to simplify, abolish or consolidate numerous governmental agencies. By approaching governmental problems in a non-partisan scientific manner, the processes and methods of government and the costs in the various divisions may be obtained it is said. This material, when collected and analyzed and interpreted reveals a simple constructive study that all citizens can understand.

Railroad Will Abandon Line Through City

Tracks from Old Paper Mill Plant to Meade-st to Be Closed

Abandonment of the transfer track, between the Lake Shore and the Ashland divisions of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad in the eastern end of the city, to become effective at 12:01 Monday morning, June 20, was announced today by railroad officials. W. B. Basing, local agent, received notification of the change from J. Leppa, superintendent of the Ashland division, and J. S. Rice, superintendent of the Lake Shore division. Announcement of the abandonment of this line ends a long fight waged by residents in that section of the city to accomplish this end. It also was asked that the tracks be removed, but no announcement as to the removal was made. The section of line to be abandoned is from the switch leading to the former mill of the Thilmany Pulp and Paper company and Meade-st. Switch engines, following the closing of this line, which is known as the water power track, will move from the division to the other via Appleton Junction. Previously it was possible for locomotives to operate in a loop about Appleton from one division to the other, starting from Appleton Junction, but with the closing of this section of track the loop will not be possible. The line, which will be closed, crosses John-st at the west end of the bridge, skirts the hill below Green Bay-st, then crosses Green Bay-st and passes through a ravine below the Pacific-st bridge and below Bellaire-st to the Lake Shore division main line.

See Depletion Of Relief Fund In Few Months

Judge Heinemann Ponders Method to Stretch Funds Over Longer Period

The necessity of taking steps to reduce the monthly expenditures of the Appleton Relief and Welfare council so that its relief fund will last to Nov. or Dec. 1 is being considered by Judge Fred V. Heinemann, president. It is possible that a meeting of the Citizens' Relief committee, which had charge of raising funds for poor relief last fall, will be called soon to assist in studying the problem.

A complete report on the operations of the organization for the six-month period ending May 31 shows total expenditures of $12,728.19, with receipts of $20,526.57, leaving a balance of $7,798.38. The average disbursement for the six months is $2,121.36. If relief is necessary at this same rate the balance on hand will last 367 months, or approximately until Oct. 1, expenditures per month is easily recognized in this report, Judge Heinemann pointed out.

Receipts by months for the last six months were as follows: December, $18,528.85; January, $398.50; February, $478.40; March, $26.50; April, $155; and May, $42.32. Expenditures by months was as follows: December, $1,100.26; January, $1,232.08; February, $2,377.15; March, $2,363.48; April, $2,666.60; and May,

$2,507.36. This is a total of $12,666.33, which, plus administration and operating expenses of $461.38, makes a total expenditure of $12,728.19.

Number of Families
The number of families given aid each month and the cost per family per month follows: December 98 families, $11.23 each; January 123 families, $10.01 each; February, 193 families, $11.64 each; March, 213 families, $11.19 each; April, 240 families, $11.11 each; May 246 families, $9.50 each. The average cost per family in actual funds expended was $11.20.

In addition to the funds expended the council distributed 4,404 articles of clothing, etc., from its store room. These had a value of $124.35. This item brings the total figure for relief to $13,511.83. The number of articles distributed each month and the value of each month's total was: December, 2,236, $478.75; January, 741, $204.55; February, 467, $143.80; March, 478, $198.10; April, 253, $108.55; and May, 229, $112.07.

The total administration expense, it is pointed out in the report, is but 3.41 per cent of the entire amount expended for relief.

The report calls attention to the steady increase in the number of families seeking aid. It is this fact which may bring about a meeting of the relief committee soon to determine what could be done.

Hotel Association To Convene at Oshkosh

FEELBE AND SICKLY

As long as newspapers have been printed in this country the custom has prevailed of writing editorials on party platforms, singling out the salient or important policies agreed upon in a convention and analyzing them or making comparisons between them and the policies of other parties in the same campaign.

At times such an attitude may be worth while. Surely it is worth while when a party takes a sincere position and whether meritorious or not. But, unless the Democratic party does worse than the Republican, and it will have a difficult time doing anything worse, a discussion of platform and principles just adopted at Chicago seems a waste of time, a needless destruction of space and use of printer's ink.

Yes, the party that has just adjourned is the same Republican party once led by Abraham Lincoln, William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt, but if it hasn't senile decay it at least is too obese around the hips. Certainly when it mentions its grand leaders and its glorious past it is living on the laurels of history—all that remains for it.

Four years ago it adopted a solemn plank of strict law enforcement. It must have known the plank was a fraud but there were votes in it. With the plank facing it every day it permits 2,000 speak-easies in the city of Washington and the open sale of liquor within a block of the White House. So much for platform promises.

When we had Abraham Lincoln as the head of the Republican party he faced a crisis, the most awful crisis the country has known. He did it with intellectual honesty and candid intelligence. Bigots and fanatics often interviewed him only to be turned away with a humorous story, and sorrowful smile. Solemnly he told the country that when he took an oath of office to uphold the constitution he meant business, not only the business of fulfilling his own oath but of stopping others from breaking theirs. To the South he declared, and because of his constitutional duty, "We don't leave the Union and you shall not."

Both Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt faced severe crises, straightforwardly and unflinchingly. There was no pussy-footing and no muckraking either. The elements in our public life that spent their time organizing destructive minorities for the purpose of ruling or ruining, the bigots and the fanatics were shown the front door of the White House, and in no uncertain terms. Those were glorious days and this was a glorious nation.

Under all such circumstances, with Lincoln, McKinley and Roosevelt, the people of the country arose to superhuman efforts. They were proud of their nation, of its constitution, of the government at Washington, of the two-fisted officials who didn't play around with the weasel words. Even the misfortunes of a depression are easy to bear while there is full confidence in the sound headwork and vigorous, though unsuccessful efforts to right conditions at Washington.

But today a strange cloud hangs over the country. It is a cringing fear. There are many reasons why the people lack confidence in the President. The front door of the White House is always open to the fanatics and from its portals comes stammering hesitation instead of a vigorous, virile, forthright policy.

We used to think that America played in great luck because at every crisis it found a master at the helm even as Woodrow Wilson turned out to be such in the World War. Someone has taken the horseshoe from over the door.

There is one remaining chance. The Republicans have turned over to the Democrats the opportunity of a generation. Will they rise to the heights of real public service? Will they face problems truthfully and intelligently? Will they give us leaders behind whom we will be proud to march?

If they do the horseshoe goes back over the door.

IDEALISM VS. FACTS IN NATIONAL DEFENSE

Military officers engaged on problems of national defense cannot permit themselves to be lulled into a false sense of security by reason of lofty ideals which disarmament conferences may promulgate. They must ever be on the alert against the unexpected.

Gas and bacteriological warfare may be declared unlawful but means for defense against such attacks must continue as a major military problem. Regardless of the outcome of the present Geneva conference, those upon whom falls the burden of providing for our national defense cannot assume that nations engaged in another war will respect international agreements, if their avoidance may lead to victory. Memories are too fresh of what happened in the last war and of what is now taking place in the Orient.

General Frank A. Parker, in a lecture to officers following the recent military maneuvers at Camp Custer, Michigan, ridiculed any popular idea that chemical warfare can ever win a great war. No weapon of warfare ever has been invented, he said, or ever will be invented that will not be met by an effective defense. Theoretically, some nation might develop a powerful and secret weapon of offense and bring it out at just the right time to overwhelm its enemy, but this possibility becomes less and less with every succeeding year of rapid communication and widespread knowledge.

Nevertheless, to insure national security, it is necessary that our military organization be constantly on the alert. When trouble starts, the unexpected must always be expected. Science is delving deep into nature's untapped mysteries, whence new and unusual developments are possible. Nor until national greed and selfishness are obliterated can there be any assurance that international agreements will prove to be other than mere scraps of paper.

JURIES ARE GETTING SMART
"Not guilty, your honor," pompously declared Gaston B. Means ten days ago when his case for having preyed upon mother love to the extent of $100,000 filched from Mrs. McLean upon a promise of returning the Lindbergh child, was called for trial.

Men like Means who have been through a great many court trials become quickly aware of all the tricky things about the law and plan to use them for their own criminal purposes.

It is plain enough that long before Means was arrested he had said over and over to himself, "Well, they can't make me talk and what's more they can't even ask me a question; they can't put me on the witness stand; and if the prosecutor refers to the fact that I don't take the witness stand a mistrial results."

And of course when the government's case was in and it came time for the defendant to speak his attorney spoke for him. He dropped the softly spoken phrase, "The defendant has no evidence to offer and therefore rests." In his address to the jury he dealt with the theory that it would have been a waste of time for Means to take the stand, that he had pled not guilty, that there was nothing to explain, and surely the jury wouldn't want to insult a free American citizen by asking him any questions.

This jury in less than two hours found Means guilty. Years ago he might have escaped under the same circumstances. Criminal lawyers are not selling gold bricks as they used to sell them. The insanity sham is not sustained as formerly and the particularly reprehensible situation that is created when a defendant fails to take the stand is seldom now the means of escape.

But in spite of these improvements the constitutional provision which gave Means and many others a handicap in a trial where they have plenty of handicaps anyway should be overhauled.

Here was a jury, the members of which never even heard of Means. They didn't know that he had previously been convicted of fraud, had served prison terms. Had the government been free to put him upon the stand it could have proven his record, something that never entered this case.

Although the details of the testimony and the weight of the evidence upon which the prosecution relied are not immediately available, nor indeed the fact as to whether or not sufficient evidence was introduced to sustain a conviction, nevertheless it is gratifying to see jurors no longer confused and deceived when men accused of crime do not take the witness stand.

Probably an innocent man never yet refused to take the oath and submit to examination.

Opinions Of Others

THE GERMAN POSITION
The German delegate to the disarmament conference at Geneva, Herr Nodolny, has consistently stressed the theory during his visit to Switzerland that after all limitation of national armaments was not the achievement most to be desired, but a reduction of all armaments, both military and naval. The first and basic article of the draft proposed and intended to govern the nations in these respects in future should emphasize abolition of armaments, and not merely their reduction, or progressive limitation, as the ideal.

Humanity cannot prosper while every nation maintains an organized force the primary purpose of which is to enforce respect for its own privileges, and empower potential threats to other lands and peoples. Arbitrations and conventions for rational discussion must soon supersede the active or passive hospitality of armed camps. — Cologne Gazette (Germany).

"THE VERY FIRST OBLIGATION"
President Hoover's closing message to thousands of superintendents, principals, teachers and other interested in education who gathered last week in Washington should be back to every community in the United States and should ultimately reach the remotest district school. His amply demonstrated devotion to the welfare of children gives weight to his words beyond thousands that might be spoken by others.

The very first obligation upon the national resources is the undiminished financial support of the public schools. We cannot afford to lose ground in education. That is neither economy nor good government.

THE REPUBLICANS are running true to form . . . and that loud rattling you heard yesterday was the echoes from thousands of brains, trying to figure out just what the Republican prohibition plank meant . . . the dries are apparently getting a great deal of consolation out of it . . . the wets don't like it so well . . . being a resident of Wisconsin, the prohibition problem doesn't bother us a lot, but we should like very much to see the damned mess straightened out pretty soon . . . Prexy Hoover was just re-nominated as this was written . . . at least that mystery has been solved . . . his running mate had NOT been chosen as we wrote, however . . . which leaves us still up in the air

As near as we can figure out, the prohibition plank retains federal government control of liquor, permits the dry states to remain dry and the wet states to remain wet. Which, as nearly as possible, is leaving things about as they are.

BUT IT DIDN'T HAPPEN

Imagine the confusion if Franklin Roosevelt were nominated by the Democrats and Theodore Roosevelt were nominated for the vice presidency by the Republicans. What a lot of trouble that would cause. All the Republicans could talk about the vice presidential candidate and get the Democrats so confused that they'd be all balled up by the time the election came around and vote the opposite ticket to be sure to get a Roosevelt in. At least it's an idea.

Harvey Firestone has joined John D. Rockefeller in his views on prohibition. Will Mister Ford please step up? The people are waiting to hear from you, Mister Ford.

It has been suggested, since there are twice as many people in jail as there were before prohibition and not twice as many jails, that some of Mr. Garner's money be used to build jails instead of post-offices.

There IS a whole of an idea. All we've ever been able to do in a post-office is buy stamps and stamps are going up in price. But a jail, a nice, new, modern jail—what we couldn't do with that. Eat and sleep and play cards with the other boys. There's one of the best thoughts that's been promoted in years.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

Friday Night

On Sunday night at home we stay. For school begins the following day. On Monday night it is the rule. I must prepare myself for school. They send me off to bed at eight. For children mustn't stay up late.

On Thursday all they say is "No." When out with them I beg to go. In school to do their very best. All little girls must get their rest. And then when Wednesday evening comes I sit at home and twirl my thumbs.

I can't go out on Thursday night. For daddy says it isn't right. If there's a show I want to see. On Thursday, it can never be. But mother tells me that we might all go to see it Friday night.

So all week long I work on sums. And wait till Friday evening comes. Then after supper off we go. To see a moving picture show. And round about us everywhere I see a lot of children there.

A FEW "ECONOMY" SUGGESTIONS FOR CONGRESS

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

HONEST FOLK SWEAT BUT NOBODY EVER PERSPIRES

Why don't you write a book and title it "No Such Thing"? a correspondent inquires. Such a book by you would make entertaining reading. And honestly I don't know whether the correspondent is serious or just sarcastic.

It does seem as the I am forever asserting there is no such thing as a cold, rheumatism, nervous breakdown, indigestion, etc., etc., but if so, I believe it is necessary, for we must remember that the most prevalent ailment in this country is Billings complaint — people knowing so many things about health and pathology which ain't so.

The correspondent was prompted to make the suggestion when he read an article in which I said that no one ever perspires. Of course, I meant that no one breathes thru the skin. Sometimes a charlatan finds it convenient or necessary to have his dupes imagine the skin breathes, as this lends color to his explanation of illness or the way his method of treatment "purifies the system" or some such hocus-pocus. But physiologists have never discovered any evidence that the skin can absorb air or anything else, unless it is punctured or broken.

A lady whose credulity is amazing in view of her evident general intelligence, cited a number of proofs that the skin absorbs things, among them a notorious nostrum which she informed me has been used for many years as a salve applied on the surface for the cure of whatever the victim might happen to have. The lady might as logically say that a horse chestnut in the pocket has been used for many years as a cure for rheumatism.

If I should write a book entitled "No Such Thing" I shall include in it a chapter enumerating things which do not account for illness, and among these things I shall include overwork, run down condition, nervousness, indigestion, biliousness, indigestion, biliousness, night air, dampness, drafts, change of weather, climate, season, your age, tomatoes, acid fruits, wrong combining of foods (whenever they may be), teething, open winter, hard water, red or dark meat, pimientos, veridigris, rust, green apples, cucumbers, proximity to putrefying animal or vegetable matter, auto-intoxication, vague "impurities retained in the system" and high blood pressure.

There are still extant a few physicians who perpetrate a diagnosis of "ptomain poisoning" from time to time, which serves as well as a "heavy cold" does to soothe the anxiety of the public until the real nature of the illness becomes evident.

I did not include acidosis in the list because acidosis can happen in the course of certain illnesses, the consequence of disease and never as the cause of it.

Unquestionably a large number of people who complacently feel they know something about these health or medical matters would debate one or another of these questions with me or any other doctor or expert who might agree with me. Proverbially it is only the ignorant who despise education.

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—Rep. Will Bankhead of Alabama, although not a titular leader of the house and his party, nevertheless goes into action as quickly and seemingly as effective as any one of them when he is needed.

He is one of the best orators of the house, and the democrats call on him when it becomes necessary for party policies to be defended on the floor.

So well has he performed this service since the democrats took over control of the house that Speaker Garner and Floor Leader Rainey have come to lean heavily on him.

He Resents the Jibes
Within the past two months he has been greatly concerned over the severe criticism congress has had hurled at it. At every opportunity he has replied to the critics using every means at his disposal. But the jibes have continued.

Bankhead has been a member of the house for 16 years, and no one perhaps is prouder of being a member of congress or is more jealous of its reputation.

So, when he was chosen as one of the principal orators at the annual memorial services in the house for those who have died since the last session, Bankhead got on idea for his address.

He listed the aid of William Tyler Page, former chief of the house. The two went to statutory hall where stand the statues of those men chosen by the states as being their most illustrious sons.

Bankhead and Page peered at each statue and jotted down the name. Then they got out the congressional blue book containing the names of all who ever served in congress.

When they finished they found that 25 of those statues were of men who had served in the house of representatives. Triumphantly Bankhead stood by the vase containing memorial roses for the three senators and 16 representatives who have died since the election of the 72nd congress, and declared:

"We do not need to appeal to the living for vindication. . . . We are content to abide the judgment of posterity on the roll call of our dead."

Did you ever hear of the bonus system? If not I will refer him to the Interstate commerce commission report on the proposed merger of the Bethlehem Steel Co. and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. regarding million dollar bonuses paid to the insiders before the stockholders received any dividends.

Quoting from Prof. William Z. Ripley of Harvard, speaking before the senate banking committee, "employees of corporations are sometimes compelled to buy the stock of the companies for which they work. That's one of the things that will come out in the Insull case in Chicago."

The common or garden variety of stockholders does not always get a full share of the profits.

Returning to the question of wages and prosperity I will quote from another recent report. On 256 manufacturing plants with 157,000 employees. "They found that those plants which maintained wages were invariably in better shape than those which slashed wages. The report is a thoroughgoing vindication of organized labor's contention that prosperity can never be achieved by reducing the buying power of the masses."

And their official report backed up by figures taken from the boss's own books emphatically declares that wage reductions have not lowered production costs increased output or restrained layoffs. Those companies which reduced wages the most were the ones that lost the most men, so that instead of pay reductions stimulating business the contrary conditions seem to have obtained."

This report is from the National association of Cost Accountants, an organization of expert statisticians employed by big industries to figure costs of production, factory operation, etc.

I still maintain my position that there can not be any reasonable degree of prosperity in this country for the farmer and incidentally the manufacturer of farm implements whether he be in Chicago or Appleton until the 8,000,000 unemployed are again at work at decent wages and it will take a much more logical argument to dislodge me from that position than either my friend the farmer or the local manufacturer who used a column of newspaper space in which to call me a liar when he could have obtained the same results in a very few words.

Carl Smith

Political writers are having a lot to say about what Congress has done for the "wets." Haven't they gotten "wets" and "votes" confused?

Vits to Rule All Patronage In Wisconsin

Conservatives Settle Old Dispute With Postmaster General Brown

Chicago—(P)—A long standing grievance between Wisconsin conservative Republicans and the national administration over distribution of patronage appeared definitely settled today.

The assurance that hereafter all patronage in Wisconsin will be handled solely by George Vits of Manitowish, Republican national committeeman, was given by Postmaster General Walter Brown at a conference with a group of Badger delegates in the Congress hotel last night.

The conference was held at the request of the Wisconsin delegates, who wished to arrive at an understanding over a struggle which has been waged in the state between the conservatives and LaFollette Progressives since the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette established himself as the leader of a new faction of the party.

While most of the state's representatives at the national convention left for their homes within a few hours after the final adjournment, William Kinsella of Milwaukee, Howard Greene of Genesee Depot, George Gilkey of Merrill, and Ben Marcus of Muscoda remained for the conference with Brown.

Acting as spokesman for the group, Kinsella pointed out that the conservative faction for the first time in 28 years controlled the Wisconsin delegation, and for this reason they should be entitled to distribute patronage in the state. He emphasized that suggestions from the Progressives would not be representative of the wishes of Wisconsin Republicans.

Stalwarts Rejoice

The 16 conservative delegates were weary but happy as they left the convention hall following the nomination of president Hoover and Vice President Curtis. For the first time in many years they had taken

Nine Probate Cases to Be Heard in County Court

Nine probate cases are listed for hearing at a special term of Outagamie county court at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning before Judge Fred V. Heinemann at the courthouse. Cases on the calendar include: Hearings on claims in the estate of Rosa Schaefer, Anna Louise Fischer, John Hamilton and Elizabeth S. Essling, hearing on final account in the estate of Jane Groff, Katie Geurts, Helga Johnson, Frederick Hoepfner, and Albert J. Kreiss.

an active part in convention proceedings. Several of the Progressive delegates smiled good naturedly over the jubilation.

The speech of Frank Bentley, Madison, according the nomination of President Hoover, brought spontaneous cheering from his fellow delegates and representatives from other states on the convention floor. He stressed the fact that Wisconsin once more has returned to the fold of regular Republicanism as indicated by the conservative victory in the delegate elections.

Fifteen of the Wisconsin delegation voted for Hoover in the presidential balloting, Senator Ben Gettelman, Milwaukee, who was elected on a conservative campaign, casting his vote for former President Calvin Coolidge, the Progressives voted solidly for Senator John J. Blaine, giving him 11 votes.

George W. Mead, Wisconsin Rapids, and Bentley voted for Curtis in the vice presidential nomination. The other 14 conservatives voted for Hanford MacNider of Iowa, minister to Canada, and the Progressives again voted solidly for their own choice, Senator James Couzens of Michigan.

Reilly Explains Why He Voted 'No' On Bonus Measure

Congressman Points Out He Is Opposed to Discrimination

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)

Washington—Though warned that a vote against the bonus would retire him from Congress, Representative Michael K. Reilly of Fond du Lac voted no to the measure because he is convinced the proposal is financially dangerous in the face of the budget deficit and the depression and because he feels that all the money that can be spent for relief should be spent for all the needy without discrimination in favor of one class.

"I have been warned that if I vote against the pending bill my vote will retire me to private life," Reilly said in announcing his stand.

"It is possible that such a result will follow and that no great loss would result to governmental Washington; however, if I were to vote for this bill, believing as I do that it constitutes dangerous and unsound legislation and an unjustifiable discrimination by congress in the relief of a few to the neglect of the many, then my vote would be cast that way because I feared ballot more than the veterans ever feared bullets.

"If my vote on this bill will retire me to private life, I will have the consolation of knowing that in my political exile from Washington I will have the company of my self-respect.

Representative Reilly and William H. Stafford of Milwaukee were the only members of the Wisconsin delegation in the House of Representatives voting against consideration of the measure.

The Badgers voting for the measure were Reps. Gardner Withrow of La Crosse, Thomas R. Amlie of Elkhorn, Gerald Boileau of Wausau, James A. Frear of Hudson, Charles Kaeding of Watertown, John M. Nelson of Madison, Hubert Peavey of Washburn, George J. Schneider of Appleton, and John C. Schafer of Milwaukee.

Fewer Deaths of Infants in County

Total of 62 Reported for 1931 as Against 80 for 1930

Outagamie-co's 1931 statistics covering infant mortality, maternal mortality and stillbirths, three phases of public health vital to the present and future of the country's well-being, have been announced by the state board of health.

Infant deaths, which comprise those of children under one year of age, reached a county total of 62 last year, as compared with 80 for 1930. There were 10 deaths from childbirth among Outagamie-co mothers in 1931, marking an increase of four over the 1930 item and establishing a rate of 7.0 deaths per 1,000 live births, as compared with the 1931 state rate of 4.3, the records of the bureau show.

Stillbirths for Outagamie-co totaled 31 in 1931, 10 less than were reported for 1930.

To further increase Wisconsin's prestige in minimizing deaths in these three classifications, the state board of health offers free of charge a series of nine monthly letters for the expectant mother, the first of which is designed for the first month of the prenatal period.

More than 3,500 Wisconsin women profited by the counsel found in these letters last year, and the annual increase for the series indicates that it will reach a much larger number of expectant mothers this year.

This letter service is provided upon application to the bureau of child welfare, state board of health, at Madison.

Dawes' Withdrawal Assured Vice President Curtis of Renomination

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Chicago—The Republican national convention passed into history with a record of controversies real and implied, but without upsetting the pre-conceived plan for renominating President Herbert Hoover on a platform that defends his administration.

The renomination of Vice President Charles Curtis would have been impossible but for the withdrawal of Charles G. Dawes, who said that he would not accept a place on the ticket.

Controversy over the character of a prohibition plank was the outstanding event of the convention. It will be a source of amazement for months to come, for the dries apparently capitulated on the occasion to the extent of agreeing to submission of the question of prohibition to the people, while the moderate wets rejoiced that the convention platform shows the party ready to discard the present eighteenth amendment and is looking for a substitute that will give the states much of the control they once exercised.

Although Hanford MacNider of Iowa, former national commander of the American Legion, and Major General James G. Harbord, retired, each received in excess of 150 votes for vice president, the convention preferred to stand on the 1928 ticket rather than accept any one else.

Helps Democrats
Nevertheless, the discussion about a substitute for Mr. Curtis will be construed as a weakness in the ticket by the Democrats. Also, when the Democratic national convention meets less than two weeks hence, an effort will be made to go farther toward the wet side of the prohibition question in the hope of capturing groups that were disappointed by the plank adopted here this week.

The Republican convention moved rapidly, dispatching its business with the usual speed of this party's gathering. The presence of the administration forces meant that they controlled enough of the delegations to carry out the wishes of the president in respect to the platform. And, since the nomination to the presidency was a foregone conclusion, the debate on the platform was all there was to the convention.

Final Survivor of Club to Drink Spring Water Toast

Stillwater, Minn. — (AP)—A quiet old man, prideless victor of a race against death, will drink a toast here July 21 carrying out a pledge to 33 comrades of fighting days during the Civil War.

Captain Charles Lockwood, 89, will again fulfill the tradition of the Last Man's club of which he is the only survivor and surely the titular head for he is the last man, the remaining actor filling a weird role suggested in just 48 years ago.

But instead of wine from a rare old bottle of Burgundy which was set aside at the first meeting of the club in the 'eighties, this year's toast will be quaffed in pure spring water. The bottle, tightly sealed, lives on except for a small quantity of wine taken from it, in the vault of a local bank.

It was in the summer of 1930—again on July 21, the anniversary of the first battle of Bull Run—that Lockwood fulfilled the destiny of the club and the bottle. Then, alone for the first time since the club began its annual reunions, he carried out a ceremony outlined at its first meeting.

He repeated a toast, a poem selected for the occasion, opened the bottle and poured from it a small toast, and addressed 33 chairs draped in black crepe. Having saluted his comrades, he closed the books of the club, recorded the bottle and handed it over to the historical society for its permanent archives.

But the tradition of the annual meeting has become the most important thing in Lockwood's life and last year he trekked to Stillwater once more when July 21 rolled around, fresh from a trip to old battlefields and to Washington where he had an audience with

Comfort Will Make Husband Stay at Home

Wise Father Tells Daughter How to Be Successful as Wife

BY DOROTHY DIX

A man whose daughter is about to be married said to her the other day: "My dear, I know your mother has been giving you a lot of advice about how to make a success of your marriage. That's good as far as it goes, but it doesn't go far enough because your mother is a woman and no woman really understands a man, or knows what he wants in a wife, or how he wants his wife to treat him, so what I am going to tell you is a hot tip from the man's standpoint."

"The first thing for you to realize, my dear, is that practically every man marries for a home. It is when a man gets so fed up on club and restaurant cooking that he feels that he could scream at the very sight of another a la smothered in a gooey sauce, and when he finds out when he is dressing in a hurry that he can't find a single clean shirt, or a handkerchief, that his thoughts turn suddenly toward the holy estate and he begins to think how nice it would be to have a little home of his own and pies like mother used to make, and a little wife waiting for him at the door with a glad, sweet smile of welcome and the aroma of a good dinner floating like a halo around her head."

"Make a man comfortable and he will purr like a cat under your hand. Give him a warm hearthstone and he will not wander from it. Believe me, my daughter, there is no other such recipe for keeping a husband from becoming a philanderer as to fatten him up and cause him to lose that boyish figure that is so appealing to husband-snatchers."

"It is not without significance that divorce has increased as the size of the kitchens have decreased. A wife can't expect her husband to eat out of her hand if she has nothing but a tin can and a paperbag in the house. I urge on you as of the first importance to become a crackling jack housekeeper and to make your home the pleasantest place that your husband can find."

"Then keep yourself a Lady Love. Don't think that marriage gives you the privilege of going sloppy and eating like a pig. It becomes a household drudge to become as much a part of the domestic machinery as the vacuum cleaner or the gas range."

"Men are far more romantic and sentimental than women are and that is one reason they are less easily housebroken. A woman can get married and settle down and call it a day, but a man still wants to be chasing something and if his wife won't flutter a little ahead of him and be elusive and coy and put a little pep into the game, he is likely to go pursuing some other woman."

"So keep yourself attractive-looking. Be easy on your husband's eyes. Let him see that you still think him worth going after. You have no idea how it flatters a man for his wife to dress up for him and use on him all the arts and wiles that she used to practice in their courting days. Don't let the vamps have a monopoly on all the pink lingerie and wicked-looking negligees."

"Sell yourself to your husband. Keep ever before him the nifty line of attractions you carry and make him feel that you are worth to him all that you cost. When you make mistakes, keep silent about them. When you pull off a good thing, flaunt it before his eyes. Dump your soggy biscuit in the garbage can and say nothing. But when you concoct a dainty cake give it the center of the table and blow your trumpet. Nine men out of ten take their wives at their own valuation."

"Avoid the martyr pose that so many wives adopt. Make your husband feel that you are glad that you married him and that you don't regard it as a horrible fate to be tied to him and to have to keep house. It is poor pay that a man gets when he works himself half to death for a woman who is never satisfied and who makes him feel that she threw herself away upon him."

"Be companionable. Take an interest in your husband's business, and hobbies and when he talks to you don't listen to him with just one lobe of your brain and your mind really occupied in trying to decide whether you will buy that new hat downtown tomorrow or not. Lend him your ears. Discuss things intelligently with him. Laugh at his jokes, no matter if you have heard them before. You would do that much for any stranger. So why not for your husband? Applaud his successes and let him weep out his disappointments on your breast. Every man in the world has to have some woman that he can confide in, and if you don't make yourself that woman he will find her somewhere else."

"Be appreciative. Don't take all that your husband does for you for granted. Show some gratitude for favors received. Tell him how wonderful you consider yourself to be to have a big, strong man stand between you and the world and protect you from its hardships. Show off the pretty clothes and jewelry and fine cars he presents you to

"Finally, daughter, don't take your husband too seriously. Laugh at the faults instead of making tragedies out of them. After all, we men are nothing but little boys who never grow up and the best way to deal with us is to spank us and kiss us and forget all about our badness."

"Follow these tips from your father, daughter, and you will win out."

PARIS PRESENTS "MAGPIE MODE"

By DIANA MERWIN

Paris—(AP)—A magpie mode—as "black and white" as the bird for which it is named—is the fashionable fashions these days. Black frocks with white hats, black costumes with white beads, bibs and belts; and white dresses with black gloves and girdles are seen wherever chic women gather. Lanvin is one of the outstanding contributors to the black and white mode with dark frocks accented by white accessories. One of her newest gowns is of black wool with a button-on plastron bib of white pique and attached to the shoulder line and waistline with jet buttons. It is worn with a big white straw sailor hat.

Another tailored street frock of black marocain is studded with white china ball buttons from wrist to elbow and worn with a choker necklace of white china beads and a white patent leather belt.

Molyneux reverses the color combination with a short sleeved frock of heavy white crepe, designed with a little waistlength cape and worn with elbow length black suede gloves, a black suede belt and a big white straw hat finished with a black band.

Coat of white diagonal weave wool with three-quarter sleeves banded in black fox and a black satin frock with four lace-trimmed sleeves are other additions to the daytime magpie mode.

Among outstanding night-time black and white effects are full length coats of gleaming white satin worn with black chiffon frocks, and dinner dresses having skirts and bodices of black crepe with puffed sleeves of white crepe inset on a diagonal shoulder line.

Corinne Griffiths' black and white costume, designed by Schiaparelli, is an afternoon coat of black wool with a plastron bib of white ermine. It is worn with white doekins gloves, a black crepe frock and a black beret.

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON

Nothing in the world's history, probably, has scared as many people quite as horribly as has leprosy. From the earliest times until very recently, people were too frightened even to treat the unfortunate lepers with common decency. The leper was condemned to a living death; in the middle ages, indeed, the church formally pronounced him dead, and his property was disposed of just as if he had actually died.

Things are far better today. On Molokai, in the Hawaiian Islands, there is the world's finest leper settlement. There lepers can get the care, the surroundings and the comfort they are entitled to.

This is so very largely because of the heroism and self-sacrifice of two men—the famous Father Damien, who gave his life to alleviate the lepers' plight, and Brother Joseph Dutton, who took up the work on Father Damien's death.

The life stories of these two men are described in "The Samaritans of Molokai," by Charles J. Dutton. It is an absorbing and an inspiring book.

Father Damien, a priest, went to Molokai upwards of 50 years ago, contracted leprosy, and died there. Brother Dutton, a Civil War veteran, went out just before Father Damien died and stuck on the job for half a century.

The author tells their stories very well. He refutes the calumnies that sectarian jealousy circulated about them and presents a picture of selfless courage and devotion that is tremendously heartening; yet he does not try to gloss over the human frailties of the two men or to idealize them.

"The Samaritans of Molokai" is offered by Dodd, Mead & Co. at $2.50.

Iced Tea Maybe Served on Short Notice on Hot Days

BY SISTER MARY

If you would serve your iced tea as fragrant and sparkling as the hot beverage, choose the brand with care and keep in mind the following suggestions.

Properly made tea should not be allowed to "steep" or "brew" longer than five minutes. At the end of this time the tea infusion should be poured from the leaves and the leaves thrown away.

The flavoring substance and stimulating properties in tea leaves are quickly extracted by boiling water. The short period of steeping produces a fragrant, delicately flavored beverage, mildly stimulating to some persons. Long steeping will extract the tannin from the leaves and spoil the delicate flavor. The taste will be bitter and "puckery" and the fragrance wholly lost. No amount of fresh water added to too strong tea can undo the damage.

In making tea to be iced, allow twice as much dry tea for each cup as for a hot drink. Do not lengthen the steeping time. To serve, fill glasses full of coarsely cracked ice or half full of chopped or shaved ice. Pour tea on ice, taking care not to touch the glass with the hot tea.

Tea Is Best Poured Over Ice. Freshly brewed, well-made tea poured over ice is not all the same beverage as that which is made very strong and cooled and weakened with water and finally served with a piece of ice tinkle. The first is clear with a delicate fragrance and taste, while the second is cloudy with a bitter taste no matter how much it is weakened or sweetened.

Powdered sugar is better to serve with iced tea than granulated. The advantage of this is that powdered sugar dissolves in cold liquid more easily than the coarser granulated variety.

Either the juice or sections of lemon or orange are served with iced tea. The juice served in a small pitcher or bowl with a cream ladle is liked by many persons better than the sections of fruit.

A "simple syrup" is often used in place of sugar. This syrup is during the summer months, because it combines more quickly with fruit juices than does plain sugar.

To make syrup, put one cup granulated sugar and one-half cup water into a smooth sauce pan. Bring to the boiling point, cover and boil five minutes. This is a rather thick concentrated syrup. One tablespoonful will be enough to sweeten a glass of iced tea to suit the average taste.

Children should never be allowed to drink tea in any form. If the tinkle of ice and accompanying lemon and sugar of ice tea should prove too enticing for children at the family table, a glass of lemonade should be provided for them.

Tea may be frozen and used in iced tea in place of ice. If the frozen cubes are well flavored with lemon a delicious drink is forthcoming.

Don't forget that powdered tea can be used with cold water to make an iced drink at a moment's notice.

Let Rouge Follow Contour of Face

BY ALICIA HART

If you are going to have the right kind of face, you must make the most of your features. You can't apply lipstick and rouge and powder just any careless way and expect your face to grow lovelier. Beauty has to follow a definite pattern just as surely as anything else.

When you use rouge, remember that you aren't painting your face red just to display a brilliant color. You are trying to enhance the beauty of your eyes, and to improve the contour of your face by calling attention to its good points and blotting out the poor ones.

First of all, make sure that your powder suits the shade of your skin. A warm tone is more likely to hold the vibrant flesh tints that you are seeking than a cold tone. Pat the powder on your face. Don't be afraid that you are using too much. But when your face and neck are covered, dust off the surplus with a small brush designed for dusting off purposes. Don't let your skin look as though it had been powdered. That gives you an artificial basis which spoils the whole effect.

Don't let your rouge cover too large an area of your face. If it follows the cheekbone to a point near the temple, and doesn't extend beyond the eye, it is more likely to add a sparkle to your eye than if you let it come downward too far. However, every face has its own contour which must be studied. Take your rouge pot and try various methods of brightening your skin. If you are doubtful as to how to begin, wash your face thoroughly. Then splash cold water on it until you see color beginning to show. When you are quite sure that you have defined the sure where nature meant your face to tingle with an active blood current, cover that spot with rouge. Make sure that you blend the color in such a way that it will shade into your flesh tone, rather than stand out, as though it had been painted with a careless brush. You don't want to wear a mask. You want to let your own face get credit for your beauty.

Sometimes a touch of rouge on the chin, especially if you have a dimple, will do wonders for you. When it comes to lipstick, be careful that you don't apply it in such a way that your mouth will look like a hurt, red line. Avoid a wounded appearance. All you want to do is deepen and brighten your lips, so they will appear healthy and interesting. Then,

Tomorrow's Menu

LUNCHEON: Macaroni Creole, fresh fruit salad in banana boats, milk, iced tea.

Flapper Fanny Says

Most good skates are strapped nowadays.

—RUTH TRIES TO EXPLAIN HER KISS—

FOR a frightened second, Ruth didn't move. Then she pulled away fiercely, and almost ran from the room. Dale Courtney had looked away as soon as he noticed the scene in the play. He had walked to the other end of the room by the time Ruth reached the door. He was watching the fire that blazed on the hearth. He was making some impersonal remark to Sue, who was laughing back.

But Ruth had such a dizzy, broken feeling in her stomach that she couldn't stand. She dropped into the nearest chair. She wanted to see Dale alone. She wanted to explain to him that she didn't love him. That she played fair. That she had meant nothing. It had been a kindness. Not even a willing kindness. But Dale didn't look at her. He went on talking to Sue. She wondered if he would ever stop. Would ever turn and look at her. It seemed that the world ended a dozen times while she waited. Then at last he did. But his eyes didn't linger. They went beyond her, sought the clock.

"If I didn't realize it was so late, I must be going," he said.

"But you can't. You have to let me explain," Ruth wanted to say. But somehow she couldn't. She sat, very still. She couldn't find her voice. But she had to talk. Had to. She made a great effort.

"But I want to see you first," she said.

Dinner's nearly ready. You're saying," Sue told Dale. "I'll go see how it's getting along."

"No, thank you. I can't. I have another engagement," he answered. But Ruth noticed that Sue looked at him quickly, as though she, too, sensed the change in his manner. She didn't insist, though. She slipped into the kitchen.

"Dale, you can't go. I can explain," Ruth began.

He waited. The expression on his face didn't soften. There was no relenting.

"It didn't mean anything! I don't like him—I can't bear him—and he knows it. But he asked me if he could kiss me good-by and I was so delirious with joy over you—that I said yes."

"It was a knockout blow, that's all," he answered. "Let me call you tomorrow. Good night."

"But... but lots of people kiss people good-by," Ruth heard her voice gasp, and wondered why she said it.

"But we're not... lots of people. We're not. Sue was gone. The house was quiet. Sue was singing under her breath. The telephone rang. Sue answered. "Jack, oh Jack darling, when did you get in?" Ruth heard her say. There were more words. Then she came dancing into the room. "Jack's home! He just got off the train. And he's taking a taxi right out. Why, what's the matter? You're pale."

"Nothing... only when a girl has struggled along without anything, why do all her hopes have to get crossed at once? Oh, I hate Joe Raynor. I hate him. I hate him. Then she told the whole story, the words tumbling on top of each other. "But he won't believe me. What can I do?" she asked. She remembered that Dale had known that she had been upset over Joe. She wished madly that she had never confided in him. He wouldn't come back... not tomorrow or ever... On, why hadn't she said that she would marry him right away? Maybe he had thought she didn't want to.

Here is Way to Work Out Of Take-Out Double 'Hole'

When an opponent has opened the bidding and an opposing player finds himself strong in honor cards and with a hand that offers a chance as to the correct eventual declaration, the Takeout Double is in many situations, a most effective weapon. Frequently, however, the problem presented to the partner of the Doubler is difficult of solution. The situation which occurs when the partner of the Doubler holds only one four-card suit, and that the suit bid by the adversary requires special treatment. This has been provided for in the Approach-Forcing System by, in such cases, bidding the lowest three-card minor, provided that suit is not the one chosen by the opponent for opening the bidding.

An illustration of the effective use of this bid occurred in a recent game in Montgomery, Alabama. The holder of the East hand was Miss Anne Maude Dawson. The hand and bidding were:

South—Dealer
East and West vulnerable.

▲ Q 8 7 4

♦ 10 8 5

The Bidding
(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
1♣	Pass	Pass	Dbl (1)
Pass	1♥ (2)	Pass	▲ (3)
Pass	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—Better than a Jump Overcall in this situation. Game at diamonds or even at hearts, if partner holds a five-card suit, is by no means impossible. With this holding it can do no harm to double first and bid afterwards.

2—West has no four-card suit except the suit bid by his opponent. He, therefore, responds with his lowest three-card suit and leaves the final decision to his partner.

3—East's hand suggests the strong probability of only three losers—one club, one heart and one spade. Further bidding by partner, with this tremendous massed honor strength and South's Opening bid, appears out of the question. The direct bid for game is therefore justified.

In the play, South opened the King of clubs and East dropped the Queen. Of course, South knew that unless this was a false-card, East could ruff the second round of the suit and establish the Knave in the Dummy. However, as the Dummy was entirely void of entry cards, South decided to continue the clubs as a choice of evils. Miss Dawson, preferring safety to the possibility of securing an extra trick, discarded.

TODAY'S POINTER
When an opposing player has opened the bidding and partner makes a Takeout Double, partner of the Doubler is frequently confronted with a difficult problem in continuing the contract. The method of handling such a situation to obtain the best results can be developed along logical lines.

TOMORROW'S HAND
The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow.

West—tomorrow
West—Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.

Chief Miller Defeated In Bout at Milwaukee

New London—Boxing at Milwaukee last night against George Black, Chief Miller of the Wells stable in this city lost in four rounds. Black is a protege of Ritchie Mitchell. He is a clever boxer and has a wicked left arm. This same left continually rubbed the whiskers on the Chief's jaw in the first round. The Chief evaded it more aptly in the second, and in the third he had things his own way. In the fourth, although the Chief took some punishment the round was his by a good margin. His slowness in the first and second rounds evidently lost him the fight. The scrap was refereed by Pinkie Mitchell.

Specifications of the viaduct were changed last fall to accommodate such entrance when extensive damage claims were presented by the campmeeting association. The new driveway has been graded, is now being surfaced with gravel, and will be ready for use shortly.

Expect Many Will Hold Up Payments Of Income Taxes

Believe Gov. LaFollette Will Recommend Postponement of Collections

Many Outagamie-co residents are expected to withhold payment of their income taxes, according to Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer, in the hope that Governor Philip LaFollette will take steps to defer the time for payment from July to some later date. Income tax payments are coming in about the same as last year, Miss Ziegenhagen said, but many are being paid under protest. This step is taken by the taxpayer so that he may have a chance to collect in case there is a test case and the emergency relief tax is determined to be illegal.

Governor LaFollette has been swamped with requests from taxpayers throughout the state, asking that the time for payment of the income taxes be extended. They point out that the increase in taxes is so enormous and that incomes have been so reduced that it is impossible, in many instances, to meet the obligation by July 1, the regular date set for collection. Oscar J. Schmieg, assemblyman from this district and assistant district attorney, was one of the officials who added their requests for an extension of the time of payment. From Madison comes the report that Governor LaFollette will take some steps to extend the time for payment. In view of the fact that he requested treasurers to postpone the annual sale of delinquent tax certificates, it is believed that he also will request a time extension for the payment of income taxes.

Agree on Delay For Payments of War Reparations

No Action to Be Taken Until Conference Ends, Chief Powers Decree

moratorium and foreshadows that the conference will extend into next month.

The declaration was welcomed by Chancellor Franz von Papen of Germany as "the first visible proof that the nations concerned intend to the complete and final action that is necessary" to solve the reparations problem.

Chancellor von Papen, in his address to the conference, asked the world to cancel Germany's reparations debts entirely. His speech was moderate in tone and the possibility of German repudiation of the claims was not even hinted at. "Palliatives and adjournments are definitely of the past," he said. "We must take the last step. The grave task of this conference is to shake off the fatal vicious circle and sweep a path toward the positive collaboration which alone can assure a brighter future."

Hold Private Session

The session at which the German chancellor spoke was a private one. Neville Chamberlain, British chancellor of the exchequer, was among those sitting in.

Chancellor von Papen referred to the United States and France in drawing a detailed picture of German's plight.

"Two of her creditor countries amassed so much gold," he said, "that it became sterile, while the debtor country, Germany, was paralyzed."

This situation, he said, caused German youth to turn to radicalism through despair. The nations, he said, let the Hoover holiday pass without decisive action and failed to heed the warning of the world bank committee at Basel that a catastrophe was approaching."

It was false, he said, to believe that Germany would become a formidable competitor in the world market if she were freed from her reparations obligations. He complained of the high interest rate she was forced to pay for post-war loans abroad and said heavy public expenditures were necessary to avoid social dangers.

"Reparations Abhorrent" he said, "have shown themselves to be abhorrent. Experience excludes the possibility of recommending the payments. A new trial would end in a new defeat."

"Reparations were originally intended for reconstruction, but now they are a means of destruction."

Premier Herriot of France, replying to the German's speech, agreed that Germany is not able to continue reparations payments for the present, but he asserted that cancellation "is not the most important problem to be considered here."

Mr. Chamberlain said Great Britain was convinced that inter-governmental obligations were disastrous to civilization. His government, he said, "is prepared to share in a general wiping of the slate, provided all governments concerned will do the same."

M. Harriot rose again to say with some feeling that he wanted the German people to understand that France is not callous to the difficulties of other nations but is trying to work for the common good and the common peace.

Cancellation of reparations would strike deeply, however, he said, for reparations are an integral part of the European economic system.

"Cancellation," he said, "is not an efficacious, equitable solution, for

MARYLAND PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE "BOUNCED"

The effort of Ex-Senator Joseph I. France, of Maryland, sole opponent of Herbert Hoover for the Republican nomination, to mount the convention platform at Chicago and throw his support to Coolidge, ended disastrously for him. Here is France (left) telling how he was "bounced" from the platform, after a tussle, when the chairman ruled he had no business there because he was not a convention delegate.

Chicago Getting Ready to Greet Next Convention

Curtis Renomination and Prohibition Plank Center of Discussion

opposition to him. There was a movement for a younger and more spectacular figure. And there was an important undercurrent of opposition growing out of the social war which had been waged in Washington, over precedence, between Mr. Curtis' sister, Mrs. Dolly Gann, and Alice Longworth.

Against this combined opposition, the Curtis people played an interesting game. At their head was Mrs. Gann herself, receiving constantly at her hotel, present in a box at every convention session. She had been at work in fact for months beforehand, making speeches to Republican gatherings far and wide, and in every one of them she had debts and reparations are but one element of the world's troubles."

"It is wrong to think that sudden cancellation would restore economic equilibrium. To do this it is necessary to establish security. There is no political peace without economic peace and vice versa. "More important than debts and reparations is the modification of tariffs quotas and other trade restrictions. We ask for our share only in the spirit of justice which we wish for every nation."

After this exchange and before a series of private conferences began Chancellor von Papen indicated that it might be necessary for Germany to declare a moratorium on the $335,000,000 interest and amortization on Germany's private debts, the bulk of which are owed to Americans.

praised the achievements of the Hoover administration.

When the Curtis camp found, in Chicago, that it needed the help of the administration, it got it. Not openly, which might have defeated the purpose, but genuinely and effectively. The administration men, very plentiful everywhere, gave advice in many cases by suggestion, and in every case, of a kind to fit the circumstances.

Hoover Strategy States lukewarm toward Curtis, for instance, but undecided where to go, were advised to put up favorite sons, and keep on the sidelines until they saw how events were turning.

It worked very well. When the roll was called, the opposition was widely split, and no one was within gunshot of Curtis. He himself did not quite have the needed majority, but under the circumstances, the big Pennsylvania delegation quickly changed its vote to him.

Had the field been able to get together behind one opponent, the result might have been very different.

It is not yet apparent exactly what strategy was behind the decision, made at about the same time to elect Everett Sanders to the national chairmanship. The choice of President Hoover and his advisers surprised almost everyone. Sanders had not been mentioned widely in previous speculation.

It was the understanding that the president was looking for a business man for chairman, with contacts which would be a help in filling up the empty party campaign chest.

Sanders, a former member of congress, has practiced law in Washington since he retired as secretary to President Coolidge. He has not maintained a very active contact with politics.

Many were speculating today whether any suggestion from Mr. Coolidge figured in the selection of new chairman. It was known that up to a few days ago, Mr. Hoover was considering William M. Butler of Massachusetts, the former president's close friend and manager eight years ago.

It hardly is expected that much will be heard in the near future from the new Republican party set-up. Sanders and his aides are more than likely to do their work quietly for the present, letting the Democrats air their troubles at their convention, and hold the spotlight for a while.

Street cars and factories in Leicester, England, were stopped recently when a rat got into an electric cable, short-circuited it, and was electrocuted.

Sell Tells How to Rid Plants of Lice Pests

Many farmers have been calling the office of Gus Sell, county agent, seeking advice on the best methods to control plant lice. These pests attack plum and cherry trees and often are found on shrubbery, Mr. Sell said. A spray for the treatment of these pests may be made by dissolving a teaspoonful of nicotine sulphate in a gallon of water. Derris also may be purchased and used for a spray. Directions for using this chemical are given on the box in which it is purchased.

Shiocton Church to Hold Picnic at Park

The annual picnic of the Lutheran church congregation at Shiocton will be held there Sunday at Hamlin park. A chicken dinner will be served at the park at noon. English services will be conducted in the morning by the Rev. Louis Mielke, pastor. The Shiocton band will furnish music throughout the day.

What is the PRICE OF BEAUTY?

Without health there can be little natural beauty. The wise woman knows that the condition of her body shows itself on her face, her complexion, and in her eyes.

She takes care to avoid constipation. This treacherous ailment frequently causes headaches, sallow skin, pimples, premature aging.

Try the pleasant "cereal way" to protect yourself from constipation. Science has proved that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron, which helps build up the blood.

The "bulk" in this delicious cereal is much like that of lettuce. How much safer than abusing your system with pills and drugs—so often habit-forming!

Two tablespoons daily will correct most types of constipation. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"THEY'RE AFTER THE MONEY"

JERRY'S eyes followed the line of Emory's pointing arm. There, perhaps eight miles from shore, were three child-size destroyers, steaming eastward in a fan-shaped formation. Four or five minutes later, off Southampton, another could be seen, idling along a mile or two off the beach. Between East Hampton and Amagansett they flew over a half-dozen coast guard boats.

The plane was flying at its ceiling, sixteen thousand feet, when its crew saw the lighthouse at Montauk point slide beneath their lower wings. They gazed down in astonishment. Hidden on the Gardiner's bay side of the point were four more picket boats and another destroyer. Between the point and Block Island could be seen several of the larger rum-chasing patrol craft, which were drifting about, apparently in designated position, awaiting the call to action.

Jerry turned sharply over the lighthouse and headed on a southeasterly course bearing straight out to sea. As he had anticipated, he soon saw an almost invisible white speck on the water which represented, presumably, the rowboat in which a fortune in hundred dollar bills awaited the kidnapers.

From their lofty seats Jerry and Emory could see that the authorities, acting in cooperation with the coast guard, had drawn a network of ships about the boat from which it would be almost impossible to escape. Yet each of the guard ships was so far away from the rowboat as to be invisible at sea level. Jerry understood the strategy that was so evident from above. The kidnapers would undoubtedly be permitted to approach the rowboat unhindered. Having grabbed the satchel containing the money, the criminals would turn to race for safety. But the chances of successfully eluding the cordon of vigilant ships seemed, from the air, to be slight indeed.

Jerry hoped that he was flying sufficiently high to be unobserved. Emory studied the outlying ring of ships, rejoicing in the tense excitement of the moment. What a

With ten or twelve thousand feet of space separating the two ships, it was to be hoped that the other pilot would not notice the plane which was spying upon him. At last the ever-faithful friend, was the one man in the world whom Emory never tired of seeing.

The friendship between these two men who had flown, fought and played together lay too deep for speech. It was something that each took as much for granted as the rising and setting of the sun.

Emory stiffened in his seat, bent far over cockpit wall and thumbed the focusing wheel of his binoculars. There, far to the south-west, was another airplane winging its way straight toward the center of the encircled sea. It was well below his slowly-flying plane, forging along at an altitude of about five thousand feet. Emory stared at it, trying to distinguish its type and its markings.

Jerry, obeying an instinct acquired during the war, worked the biplane into a position between the sun and the lower amphibian. While he was able to keep that strategic place he would be almost invisible to the flyers below no uncertain purpose. Straight as a bullet he flew toward the little rowboat anchored within the far-flung circle of waiting vessels. The amphibian suddenly nosed and began a steep dive toward the surface. Jerry closed his throttle and put the biplane in a thin glide.

"They're after the money!" he roared above the popping of the wind through wires and struts.

Emory nodded briefly. His blue eyes glittering with excitement. He focused his glasses again upon the amphibian, which was now leveling out for a landing not thirty feet from the tossing boat.

Small as was the toy-like plane beneath them, Emory could see a tiny black figure standing upon its lower wing as its pilot steered for the rowboat. The man leaped into the boat, remained there a moment, then, as the amphibian turned slowly into the wind, he returned to the wing. Presently he was seated again in the rear cockpit.

The amphibian began to move through the water, leaving behind a spear-shaped wake which contrasted widely against the blue background of the sea. The swift-moving element, banked in a wide, swinging arc toward the southwest, pursued a ruler-straight course in the direction whence it had appeared.

Jerry whirled his plane around and headed after the amphibian, still keeping within the blinding rays of the sun.

Kaukauna—Play in the city softball league closed Thursday evening for the first half of the season, with Ludike's Specials in front. Mereness Transfers finished in second place after courting the cellar throughout the season. Service Laundries sank into third place after losing a battle for the leading position.

Several postponed games may be played Friday evening, but these will have no effect on the standings. As a result of their copping the championship for the first half, the Specials will meet the winners of the second half of the schedule on Aug. 15, 17, and 19 for the city championship. The second half will close Aug. 11.

In Thursday's games Bayorgeon's romped over the Eagles 15 to 7, and Mereness Transfers mowed the Laundries out of second place, while the Transfers stepped in. It climaxed the rise of the 1931 champions from second last place in loop standings. The Transfers copped the 1931 championship series from the North Side Merchants.

Friday evening Ludike Specials are to meet the Eagles in a post-season encounter. Several other teams are planning games to try new players before the start of the second half of the schedule. The second half of the schedule will open on June 27, allowing teams to pick their players during the open dates.

Complete Filling at Athletic Field Soon

Kaukauna—Filling on the west end of the high school athletic field is expected to be completed this week. Workmen have been busy for the past few weeks hauling ground from a grade on Crooks-ave to the high school grounds to complete the half-mile track to be placed on the field. An extension of 75 feet was constructed on the west end of the retaining wall. All of the work is being done under direction of the building and grounds committee of the board of education.

Can't Sell Fireworks

Now, McCarty Points Out

Kaukauna—Police Chief R. H. McCarty Thursday called attention of dispensers and purchasers of fireworks to the state statutes which limit the time for sale of these articles. They may be sold at retail, he pointed out, only from June 27 to July, inclusive. They also may be used on these dates, he said. The chief warned that these laws will be strictly enforced here.

The matches will be played off in the morning because of the fireman's picnic at Chilton Sunday afternoon.

Kaukauna Child Injured by Auto

Raymond Ells Receives Fractured Leg, Lacerations About Head

Kaukauna—Raymond, 2-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Van Ellis, 912 Oviatt-st., is in St. Elizabeth hospital at Appleton as a result of injuries received when he was struck at the intersection of Lawe and Doty-sts about 7:30 Thursday evening by a car driven by Jacob Weyenberg, 203 Klein-st. The child dashed across the street into the path of the Weyenberg machine before the driver could stop, witnesses reported. The accident happened in front of the Van Lieshout garage where a car was parked in front of the gasoline pumps. The child was dragged about 15 feet, it was said.

Examination of the child's injuries revealed a fracture of the left leg below the hip, a lacerated head and numerous body bruises. He was removed to the Appleton hospital immediately.

Most Wisconsin Milk Is Consumed Outside of State

Only One Fourth of Dairy Products Made by Badgers Remains at Home

The milk from about seven out of every ten producing cows, kept upon Wisconsin farms, is consumed, in one form or another, outside the state, according to Gus Sell, county agent.

One fourth of the dairy products produced in Wisconsin are consumed within the state. And this means that the other three fourths is consumed by people outside the state. In fact, the major portion of Wisconsin's milk must find markets in the metropolitan centers like Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and many other Atlantic Coast cities.

Over 95 per cent of our cheese, 94 per cent of our condensed and evaporated milk and 60 per cent of our butter must seek markets outside the state.

While the per capita consumption of milk products in Wisconsin, or for that matter in our sister states, could and should be increased, it is well to keep clearly in mind when considering any marketing program that the principal markets for our dairy products are not local ones.

Broadly speaking, our several hundred million dollar dairy industry has three major divisions, production, manufacturing and merchandising. These three major divisions must be correlated and teamed in their operation if the industry is to serve the interests of the producers and consumers. Furthermore, the industry must have more efficient production, more efficient manufacturing, more efficient marketing and distribution if it is to bring greater prosperity to the individual dairyman and a more wholesome product to the table of the consumer.

The interests of the farmer must extend to the manufacturing and marketing operations as well as production. In other words, the job that we do on our farm and in the cow barn isn't going to be satisfactory unless we follow our product through the processing or manufacturing plant.

The production on the farm of quality milk and the manufacture of quality butter and cheese will be of little benefit to the producer unless it is still a quality product when it reaches the consumer's table. In other words, the farmer's job is not completed until his quality product has been put up in convenient and attractive containers, preferably under the label of the farmer's cooperative organization, and efficiently merchandised in the numerous markets of the country.

It is safe to assume that in the case of butter and cheese the consumer is interested in a quality product; of uniform standards as to quality in order that he may order if he likes it; in a package of convenient size, sanitary and attractive; and in the use of a distinctive label whereby the article may be readily identified. * * * *

The business of producing and manufacturing a high quality cheese and butter or other dairy products has not been completed until this product has been efficiently merchandised.

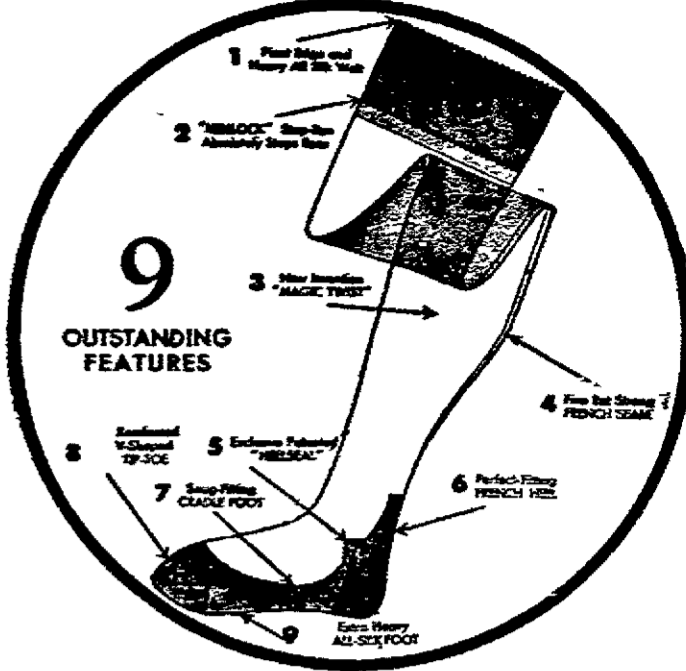

The merchandising job, however, is one which neither the individual farmer nor the local creamery or cheese factory can, operating as an individual, do alone. By this I don't mean to say that a local creamery or cheese factory can not find good outlets through private merchandising, but the approach that I have in mind is an industry approach.

The business of merchandising our butter, cheese, and other dairy products is one which requires an understanding of the desires of consumers and in turn developing a merchandising program with a sales service that undertakes the job of satisfying the consumer with quality products in sanitary and attractive packages of uniform size. Business goes to those who satisfy best the needs and the wants of the buying public. The job of merchandising the output of our creameries and cheese factories is just a business proposition. It requires the aggressive development of markets and effective sales service.
